

ZEPPELIN WESTERN TOUR CANCELLED

RAID FAILS TO DISCLOSE GAMBLE DEN

Sheriff Davis, However, Will Keep Deputy Stationed
At Southern Club.

Peace and quiet and nothing else were found Thursday night when Sheriff Frank Davis and five deputies visited the Southern Club,
a farm house
about a short distance
east of the Scioto Trail, to investigate a charge that a high class gambling establishment was being maintained.

The charge was made Thursday in a Columbus newspaper that dice, roulette and faro games were being conducted there by high powered gamblers from Cleveland, who were not particular about the wager limit.

Sheriff Davis was notified of the article, which purported to picture the nightly scenes of gambling in the farmhouse, a few minutes before the newspaper appeared on the streets of Columbus. The article said that Sheriff Davis was going to investigate the club.

SEARCH IS FRUITLESS
With such publicity, Sheriff
Davis and his deputies were not surprised Thursday night to find a quiet, orderly, well conducted establishment. Despite an intensive two-hour search of the exterior and interior of the premises, nothing tangible was found to indicate that gambling was being maintained in the house.

Sheriff Davis, however, did find an arrangement of the house which easily or specially could be used by a gambling establishment,
he said.

On the ground floor was the manager's office, two dining rooms were operated by a chef, two waiters and a colored porter. The furniture was well selected, the decorations simple but artistic and rooms spotless in their cleanliness.

LOOK-OUT MISSING
Entrance to the second floor of the house, however, was barred at the top of the stairs by a door and a sign forbidding the use of inoxicating liquor. Behind this sign was a hole where a lookout could inspect each visitor before the door was opened. Thursday night, the lookout was missing as every door in the house, including those of two safes, were open for the sheriff's inspection.

On the second floor the sheriff's party found the same atmosphere of cleanliness and well being. The main front room, its window equipped with heavy wooden interior shutters, contained a billiard table at which two men were indif-ferently knocking about the ivory balls. Another billiard table had the green covering torn off exposing the slate surface.

Off of this main room, were two other rooms, one of these opening into a woman's rest room decorated in blue gray and black, the other, brushes and other appointments being in gray and blue.
The larger of the two rear rooms on the second floor was brilliantly illuminated and was equipped for ard playing. Here four men were playing "rum" and unconcernedly
arrival of the sheriff's delegation.

EXCITEMENT LACKING
Outside of the farmhouse the grounds were well kept and a wooden arcade ran from a rear entrance to a large parking space in the rear of the house. Cleanliness and orderliness were found in all of the numerous barns and other out-buildings.

The visit of the sheriff apparently caused no excitement and he was invited by the manager Frances E. Zimmer, to enter the house without the formality of serving a search warrant issued by Justice E. C. France.

There were 14 men in the house, 11 of whom gave their names and addresses to Sheriff Davis. On a table in the large upper front room was a framed charter, issued on May 18, 1928 by Secretary of State Brown to the Southern Club for the purpose of acquiring by purchase, lease or otherwise, real estate for a club house, and owning, operating and holding same for the accommodation, convenience and entertainment of members of the Southern Club.

The five incorporators were listed in the charter as being J. R.
Reedon, Charles Buhl, F. J.
Wagner, J. H. Marple, and T. H.
Harrison. Columbus was listed as their address. Manager Zimmer said the club had between 400 and 500 members.

Wins Millions!

An old time "desert rat,"
George Campbell Carson (above), who will reap a reward of millions for smelting process he invented as result of refusal of United States Supreme Court to review decision of lower court ordering Anaconda Copper Company to pay royalties of roughly $20,000-
300. The legal battle cost $300,000 which was provided by Carson's friends.

TWO HELD TO GRAND JURY

Lewis White, Wounded By
Shotgun Charge, Admits
Theft of Chickens.

Miranda Hall Crabill, 32, Circleville, and Lewis White, 40, Circleville, were bound over to the grand jury late Thursday following a preliminary hearing before
E. C. France, justice of peace.
White pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary and larceny. Miranda Crabill pleaded not guilty to the same charge. Their bond was fixed at $1,000. Neither furnished bond Thursday.

The chickens, valued at $4, were stolen from the henhouse of George Gerhardt, a neighbor of James Swearingen, who is said to have shot White in the left arm with a shotgun, when he was notified that someone was raiding his henhouse, Sheriff Davis said.

Approximately three bushels of apples were dropped by the couple when the shot was fired, according to the sheriff's office.

THREE SONS MAKE SPLENDID RECORD

Arthur Coons, Walnut-twp., has three sons, George, Frank and Donald, who are promising young farmers as far as growing pumpkins is concerned. Mr.
Coons gave the boys a half acre of land, which was formerly an alfalfa patch to farm in pumpkins and squashes.

After selling several tons of culls to the canning factories they brought 371 varieties of 53 distinct varieties to the Pumpkin Show and carried home $77 in premiums.

For many weeks Mr. Coons said their mail consisted largely of seed catalogues and packets of seeds of every squash and pumpkin imaginable.

NEW JERSEY POLICE WANT ROBBER TRIO

Sheriff Frank Davis received a telegram last Thursday to hold the three boys, captured by his department on the Darbyville pike in a roadster which they said was stolen and containing cigars, cigarettes, meat and a small arsenal for Bloomfield N. J. authorities.
The boys gave their names as George Timko, Walter Pope and Edward Kwankowsky, all of Bloomfield N. J.

The boys had stopped because of two flat tires and were asleep
when the sheriff arrived.

REPUBLICANS ASSAILED IN RALLY HERE

Myers Y. Cooper Is Servant of Political Machine, George
Myers Asserts.

The Democratic rally held at the Memorial hall Thursday evening was a huge success and a large crowd, including a large number of women was in attendance. The stage of the hall was decorated with the American flag and Gov.
Smith's picture hung in the center of the stage. The Yellowbud band furnished the music before and after the meeting.

Two prominent speakers were on the program in the persons of Hon. Webster Huntington of Mt.
Sterling, Ky., and George S.
Myers, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor. Congressman Mell G. Underwood was unable to attend the rally because of illness and was advised by his physician not to speak until his throat improved.

All of the county candidates were also present and were introduced to the audience by the chairman, Mr. Ker Terwilliger.

REVOLVES ABOUT SMITH
Mr. Huntington, in speaking of the present campaign said: "This campaign is not a Democrat and Republican campaign, but rather a Smith and anti-Smith."

"It is also claimed by the Republican party," he said, "that Hoover is one of the greatest in-genius of the greatest engineers of today; but he is not—and he is not qualified on this point, alone to execute the office as President of the United States."

Mr. Huntington also stated that Hoover changed his politics in the past few years.
"Eight years ago," Mr. Huntington further declared, "the Republican Party made a promissory note, payable to the farmers, in the form of farm relief, and to be paid by installments of legislation; and not one dollar has been paid."

IGNORE DAVIS REGIME
The next speaker was George S.
Myers, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor of Cleveland, Ohio. Mr. Myers in his address stated that "the Republican campaign speakers and Myers Y.
Cooper, have not, during the entire campaign, said a single, solitary thing about the last Republican administration of Ohio, for the reason that there was nothing in the last administration under Harry L. Davis of which anyone could be proud."

"But, as the administration, under Myers Y. Cooper, for the reason that Harry L. Davis was it would not be as bad as the administration under Myers Y. Cooper, for the reason that Harry Y.
Davis was lieutenant of one political boss, Maurice Maschke, Cleveland, while the candidacy of Myers
Y. Cooper in this campaign is being fostered and championed by two political bosses, Fred Schneider of Cincinnati and Maurice Maschke of Cleveland," Mr. Myers said.

ASSAULTS CORRUPTION
"The regime of Maurice Maschke Republican machine," he declared, "has been so notoriously corrupt during the last few years and engaged in such flagrant election frauds that the attorney general of Ohio at the invitation of the Cleveland Bar Association and by the direction of Gov. Vic Donahay is now in Cleveland conducting an investigation of election frauds and corrupt practices.
These two twin bosses of Cincinnati and Cleveland are attempting to foist their political machine, and benchmen upon the State of Ohio in the election of Myers Y.
Cooper."

"The Republican candidate," he said, "is compelled to borrow the record of some one else, for the reason that he has had no governmental experience of his own.
The governor of Ohio almost day-long, has some local official like mayors and township trustees from every section of the state coming to his office for the purpose of solving some local problem regarding roads, ditches or some other local matter. In this respect, Martin L. Davis has had experience in all kinds of local problems. He was mayor of Kentucky three times has had experience in larger governmental problems, touching both state and national affairs as a member of Congress for four terms."

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 26.—The Nobel prize in medicine for 1928 was awarded to Professor Charles Nicole, of Tunis, for his work on combating typhus.

Navy's Safest Flyer

Lieutenant James E. Dyer (above) is the new holder of the Herbert Schiff memorial trophy awarded annually to the Navy flyer having the greatest number of flying hours without accident. His time was 1,215 15 hours, a record for the service.

SALT CREEK IS CELEBRATING

Annual Homecoming Being Conducted at Township
School Building.

With a clear sky and a cool day,
all Salt Creek-twp. residents, except those bedfast, attended the big festival and all day homecoming at the Salt Creek-twp.
school building Friday. This festival is "Salt Creek-twp Day" and a miscellaneous program will be presented by the school children in the evening.

Large displays of farm products including chickens, corn, pumpkins, oats, buckwheat, fruit and canned goods were lined up to receive their ribbons.
The day is general homecoming and get-together for the farmers to trade new ideas, plan new rations and give ideas which they think will help the other fellow.
Their wives are talking over some new kink in canning or telling how a recipe works out.

Five side shows were in waiting for the crowds and numerous lunch stands were set up on the grounds for this big day.
Merchants have autos, radios, tractors, farm implements, electrical devices and other home conveniences on display.
Some of the amusements include living young green goose, a mystery house, a Sambo, and live ducks and geese to take home if their necks can be ringed.

The greatest displays of all are those of the school children. This was their show and their displays of school work and activities form
the center of attraction.

An unusual feature of the festival is the fact there is no admission to the grounds and the program in the evening is open to the public.

LARGE CROWD AT WALNUT PROGRAM

A large number of persons attended the Walnut-twp. Farm bureau and club achievement meeting held at the Walnut-twp. centralized school Thursday night.
The program was held under order that the members might attend a Halloween festival conducted by Miss Ewing and C. F. To-sey, teachers at the school.

The program consisted of miscellaneous selections by an orchestra in the direction of Mrs. Martin Crumley; demonstrations on making neck facings by Geraldine Duddison and Thelma Baker and a playlet by the Yarn Sewing club entitled "Who Made the Garment."

Among the ill
Mrs. Don Ruff of E. Franklin-ton was taken to White Cross hospital Columbus, Thursday morning for diagnosis and treatment.

There is not much change in the condition of Mrs. Leonard Posthus who is desperately ill at Grant hospital, Columbus, following an operation for vertigo.

SMITH IS TO END CAMPAIGN IN WHIRLWIND

Five Speeches In Five Days
Ahead—Herrick Comes
To Hoover Aid.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Wary but happy after his unexpectedly riotous tour of New England, Gov.
Alfred E. Smith settled down for a short rest here today preparing for a swing Saturday into the second maneuver of his "battle of the Atlantic seaboard."

The Democratic presidential nominee will leave here around noon tomorrow for Philadelphia, a staunch Republican stronghold,
where he will parade and deliver a night speech, going into Baltimore Monday for a parade and another night speech.

FIVE SPEECHES AHEAD
Smith probably will remain all night Monday at Baltimore because he dislikes to sleep on trains and will return to New York Tuesday to concentrate his efforts the final week before election in the metropolitan area. He will speak at Newark probably Wednesday night, Brooklyn Friday and Madison Square garden Saturday, winding up his campaign with a big rally there.

It is a hectic closing schedule, including five speeches within eight days and more of the hectic parades such as he met on his New England tour. He denied himself to all callers at his hotel home this morning, working leisuredly on his Philadelphia address which his friends say will be another shot at the "state socialism" charges hurled at his campaign
by the Republicans.

HERRICK TO CAMPAIGN
WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Herbert Hoover's camp has been starting Governor Alfred E. Smith's Boston attack and it appeared today the campaign will see an exchange of heavy artillery in its closing days. At this end, however, it is expected to come from Hoover's lieutenants.

Myron T. Herrick, ambassador to France, once active in Ohio politics, was chosen as the champion of the Hoover camp to take up the "socialism" controversy begun when Hoover in his Madison Square garden speech branded Smith's farm relief, water power and prohibition proposals as "state socialism." Smith, in his Boston speech, ridiculed this charge. Hoover, himself, made no comment.

A statement by Herrick was given out at Hoover headquarters last night, after a series of conferences between him and Hoover and the latter's aides lasting a large part of the day, in which Herrick described government ownership and operation in Europe as "a dismal failure" and confessed "considerable alarm" at seeing any tendency of the kind in this country.

RECOVERING FROM FALL DOWN STAIRS

Miss Agnes Newmyer, daughter of Mrs. A. D. Newmyer of N.
Court-st and a student at the University of Wisconsin at Madison, fractured and tore the ligaments in her left arm in a fall a week ago down a flight of stairs at the school. She also dislocated her shoulder at the same time.

She is being attended by doctors at the school and will continue her studies.

MARION MERCHANT IS HEART VICTIM

Edward K. Uhler, 68 secretary of the Uhler-Phillips Co., one of the leading department stores in Marion, O., is dead at his home
there after an eight months il-ness from heart disease according to word received here. Mr. Uhler was a nephew of the late A. J. and Mary Williams of Circleville, who died recently.

Mr. Uhler was prominent for years in civic projects and in the Masonic lodge in Marion.

Plays With Rifle, Shoots Baby

Four-year-old Freddie Burger didn't think his father's 22-calibre rifle was loaded when he pointed it at baby sister, Sara, and pulled the trigger. The missile entered child's abdomen and she died later in hospital. The small victim is shown above in arms of her mother, Mrs. F. H. Burger, of Atlanta, Ga., a short time before the accident.

AGED WOMAN DIES AT HOME

Mrs. Kathryn Heffner Hall,
81, Succumbs Thursday
After Brief Illness.

Mrs. Kathryn Heffner Hall, 81, widow of James Hall, died at her residence at Court and High-sts at 5 p. m., Thursday after a five days' illness from a complication of diseases.
Mrs. Hall was the daughter of Henry and Elizabeth Reigle Heffner, pioneer residents of Circleville,
where she was born Jan. 13, 1847. She married James Hall on Aug. 1, 1867, who died about seven years ago. She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Lymen Hammett, and a brother, William Heffner,
both of Circleville.

Funeral services for Mrs. Hall will be held at the late home at 2
p. m. Saturday with Rev. Siffert of the Chillicothe Lutheran church, of which she was a member, officiating. Interment will be in Forest cemetery by Mader and Ebert. Relatives request that flowers be omitted.

Pallbearers for Mrs. Hall will be her nephews, H. M. Crites, Daniel Brobst, Oscar Heffner, Charles
C. Heffner, Val Brobst and George Hook.

KILLS WIFE, SELF AS BABES WATCH

COLUMBUS, Oct. 26.—Domestic troubles were assigned today as the motive for the killing of Mrs. Helen Postle, 20, by her husband, John, 22, who then killed himself.

The shooting occurred late yesterday at the home of Mrs. Pos-tle's parents where the couple and their two babies had been living.
Mrs. Postle's mother, Mrs. William P. Oliver, said the two had been quarreling frequently but she did not know the cause.

The double tragedy was witnessed by the children John, 4, and Jerry, 2.

ESCAPES INJURY

CINCINNATI, Oct. 26.—Judge
Florence E. Allen of the state supreme court escaped serious injury today when he crashed into the rear of an automobile of the state dam.

STRUCK BY TRUCK

Word was received Friday morning by Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Parrett that their daughter, Brub-belle Parrett Downing, was hit by a truck in Springfield, O., and suffered a broken leg. She also has other injuries. Mrs. Parrett and Mack Parrett Jr., drove to Springfield and brought Mrs.
Downing to Circleville.

ANOTHER AIR MARK SOUGHT

'Yankee Doodle' Being Groomed
For New Flight—Record Time Made.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 26.—The sturdy monoplane, Yankee Doodle, holder of speed records for non-stop flights in both directions across the continent, was being groomed today for a new effort to lower the existing mark for a trip from west to east.
Captain C. B. D. Collier and Harry Tucker, arrived at Mines field, Los Angeles, at 2:08.30 p.
m. (Pacific time) yesterday after completing the non-stop passage from Roosevelt field, N. Y., in 24 hours and 52 minutes. The previous east-west record of 26 hours and 50 minutes was set by Lieut.
Macready and Kelley in 1926.

Three months ago the Yankee Doodle, with a different pilot, set a mark of 18 hours and 58 minutes for the flight from California to New York. On that occasion Art Goebel, winner of the Dole flight to Hawaii, was at the controls. Tucker is owner of the plane and has ridden on all its record breaking flights.

When the two flyers arrived
they showed the strain of their 25 hours in the air. They were dazed temporarily by the roar of their motors. The plane, however, was in good shape and received none of the damage which it sustained in Goebel's unsuccessful attempt to make the westward non-stop flight.

Tucker praised Collier highly for the pilot, holder of the "Round-
the-world" flight speed record, was able to every opportunity to increase the Lockheed V-2's plane's efficiency. Tucker said.

ICE FORMS HERE

D. H. R. Clarke local weather forecaster, reported the mercury dropped to 22 degrees Friday morning, forming thin ice on all water.

The forecaster also said the river was still very low and for the past two weeks has been at the low watermark. For several days it was below the zero mark of the bridge and might have been lower had it not been for the state dam.

GETS DEATH WORD

Mrs. J. R. Rife of S. Cincinnati received word Friday morning of the death of her brother-in-law, Eugene Delacour Helstead, in a fire at Mr. Halstead's home.
The husband of Mrs. Rife's sister, Rebekah Helstead, died in a fire in California.

UNFAVORABLE WEATHER IS SAID REASON

Dr. Eckener Rushes Preparations To Start On Monday For Germany.

LAKEHURST, N. J., Oct. 26.— Plans for the western tour of the giant Graf Zeppelin were unexpectedly cancelled today by Dr.
Hugo Eckener who said bad weather conditions necessitated the cancellation.

Dr. Eckener's announcement was a surprise to many although he had indicated before that the western excursion would be cancelled should today's weather conditions be unfavorable.

Earlier today veering winds blowing across the landing field had made it doubtful that the air liner would attempt the flight. At that time the wind was blowing at from 18 to 20 miles an hour.

LAST MOMENT DECISION
Although weather conditions further westward were declared to be unfavorable to the trip, Eckener said the direct reason for the cancellation was the local conditions.

Dr. Eckener waited until the last possible moment before definitely declaring the western tour would be cancelled. Officers and crew of the air liner had waited all morning for a word from the designer of the craft. The crew had been held in readiness and even the doors to the huge hangar had been opened as if in anticipation of its western tour.

Immediately after the announcement, Dr. Eckener instructed the crew to start refuelling the craft
for its return to Germany.

START RETURN MONDAY
Eckener said that if the weather was favorable, a start for Europe would be made Monday. He added that this depended, of course, on the "highly changeable" weather along overseas test.

Although cancellation of the tour of the United States provided a disappointment for the guests who were to have accompanied the liner, it meant hurried preparations for another trip more hazardous for the members of the crew and officers who were on the dirigible on its flight from Germany.

Preparations were immediately made for the gasoline in the Zeppelin's fuel tanks to be replaced by an American-made gaseous fuel.

COURT DISMISSES AUTO CRASH CASE

Clifton Reichelderfer Wins In Habeas Corpus Proceeding Friday.

The case of Arthur Strawser, constable of Circleville-twp.
against Clifton Reichelderfer, for alleged reckless operation of a motor vehicle was dismissed in common pleas court Friday by Judge Clarence Curtin on the grounds that the justice had no jurisdiction to hear a case of this kind.

Tuesday, Reichelderfer figured in an auto collision with Strawser and the latter swore out a warrant charging Reichelderfer with the reckless operation of a motor vehicle. He brought Reichelderfer before his father, George Strawser, for a hearing. Reichel-derfer was fined $5 and costs and committed to the county jail until the fine and costs were paid.
Charles H. May, his attorney, then filed habeas corpus proceedings for Reichelderfer before Judge Curtin and he was released from the county jail.

LINDY GETS DEER

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 26.—Col.
Charles A. Lindbergh killed a deer three hours after his arrival at the Lubbana hacienda, according to a telegram received by friends here. Lindbergh has received permission from the department of agriculture to kill two mountain beasts and two spotted male deer.
Ordinarily the shooting of these animals is prohibited.

Keep Deputy Stationed
At Southern Club.

Peace and quiet and nothing else were found Thursday night when Sheriff Frank Davis and five deputies visited the Southern club, a farm house on the road, a short distance east of the Scioto Trail, to investigate a charge that a high class gambling establishment was being maintained.

The charge was made Thursday in a Columbus newspaper that dice, roulette and faro games were being conducted there by high powered gamblers from Cleveland, who were not particular about the wager limit.

Sheriff Davis was notified of the article, which purported to picture the nightly scenes of gambling in the farmhouse, a few minutes before the newspaper appeared on the streets of Columbus. The article said that Sheriff Davis was going to investigate the club.

SEARCH IS FRUITLESS
With such publicity, Sheriff Davis and his deputies were not surprised Thursday night to find a quiet, orderly, well conducted establishment. Despite an intensive two-hour search of the exterior and interior of the premises, nothing tangible was found to indicate that gambling was being maintained in the house.

Sheriff Davis, however, did find an arrangement of the house which easily or specially could be used by a gambling establishment, he said.

On the ground floor was the manager's office, two dining rooms was operated by a chef, two waiters and a colored porter. The furniture was well selected, the decorations simple but artistic and the rooms spotless in their cleanliness.

LOOK-OUT MISSING
Entrance to the second floor of the house, however, was barred at the top of the stairs by a door and a sign forbidding the use of intoxicating liquor. Behind this sign was a hole where a lookout could inspect each visitor before the door was opened. Thursday night, the lookout was missing as every door in the house, including those of two safes, were open for the sheriff's inspection.

On the second floor the sheriff's party found the same atmosphere of cleanliness and well being. The main front room, its window equipped with heavy wooden interior shutters, contained a billiard table at which two men were indifferently knocking about the ivory balls. Another billiard table had been green covering torn off exposing the slate surface.

Off of this main room, were two other rooms, one of these opening into a woman's rest room decorated in blue gray and black, the rooms, brushes and other appointments being in gray and blue. The larger of the two rear rooms in the second floor was brilliantly illuminated and was equipped for card playing. Here four men were laying "rum" and unconcernedly continued their playing despite the arrival of the sheriff's delegation.

EXCITEMENT LACKING
Outside of the farmhouse the grounds were well kept and a wooden arcade ran from a rear entrance to a large parking space in the rear of the house. Cleanliness and orderliness were found in all of the numerous barns and their out-buildings.

The visit of the sheriff apparently caused no excitement and he was invited by the manager, Frances E. Zimmer, to enter the house without the formality of issuing a search warrant issued by Justice E. C. Fricke.

There were 14 men in the house, all of whom gave their names and addresses to Sheriff Davis. On a table in the large upper front room was a framed charter, issued on May 18, 1928 by Secretary of State John W. Snyder to the Southern club for the purpose of acquiring by purchase, lease or otherwise, real estate for a club house, and owning, improving and holding same for the accommodation, convenience, pleasure and entertainment of members of the Southern club.

The five incorporators were listed in the charter as being J. R. Eedon, Charles Bulfinch, F. J. Judner, J. H. Marple, and T. H. Atterson. Columbus was listed as their address. Manager Zimmer said the club had between 400 and 500 members.

TWO HELD TO GRAND JURY

Lewis White, Wounded By
Theft of Chickens.

Miranda Hill Crabill, 32, Circleville, and Lewis White, 40, Circleville, were bound over to the grand jury late Thursday following a preliminary hearing before E. C. Fricke, justice of peace. White pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary and larceny. Miranda Crabill pleaded not guilty to the same charge. Their bond was fixed at $1,000. Neither furnished bond Thursday.

The chickens, valued at $4, were stolen from the henhouse of George Gerhardt, a neighbor of James Swearingen, who is said to have shot White in the left arm with a shotgun, when he was notified that someone was raiding his henhouse, Sheriff Davis said.

Approximately three bushels of apples were dropped by the couple when the shot was fired, according to the sheriff's office.

THREE SONS MAKE SPLENDID RECORD

Arthur Coons, Walnut-twp, has three sons, George, Frank and Donald, who are promising young farmers as far as growing pumpkins is concerned. Mr. Coons gave the boys a half acre of land, which was formerly an alfalfa patch to farm in pumpkins and squashes.

After selling several tons of culls to the canning factories they brought 371 entries of 53 distinct varieties to the Pumpkin Show and carried home $77 in premiums.

For many weeks Mr. Coons said their mail consisted largely of seed catalogues and packets of seeds of every squash and pumpkin imaginable.

NEW JERSEY POLICE WANT ROBBER TRIO

Sheriff Frank Davis received a telegram last Thursday to hold the three boys, captured by his department on the Darbyville pike in a roadster which they said was stolen and containing cigars, cigarettes, meat and a small arsenal of Bloomfield, N. J. authorities.

The boys gave their names as George Timko, Walter Pope and Edward Kwitkowski, all of Bloomfield, N. J.

The boys had stopped because of two flat tires and were asleep when the sheriff arrived.

STOCK IS STOLEN

WASHINGTON C. H., Oct. 26.—Authorities here today were seeking thieves who trucked away 50 hogs and 17 sheep, valued at $1260, from the Taylor Barger farm near Leesburg, Highland county, during the night. Barger has posted a $500 reward for the return of the stock.

REPUBLICANS ASSAILED IN RALLY HERE

Myers Asserts.

The Democratic rally held at the Memorial hall Thursday evening was a huge success and a large crowd, including a large number of women was in attendance. The stage of the hall was decorated with the American flag and Gov. Smith's picture hung in the center of the stage. The Yellowbud band furnished the music before and after the meeting.

Two prominent speakers were on the program in the persons of Hon. Webster Huntington of Mt. Sterling, Ky., and George S. Myers, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor. Congressman Mell G. Underwood was unable to attend the rally because of illness and was advised by his physician not to speak until his throat improved.

All of the county candidates were also present and were introduced to the audience by the chairman, M. A. Terwilliger.

REVOLVES ABOUT SMITH
Mr. Huntington, in speaking of the present campaign said: "This campaign is not a Democrat and Republican campaign, but rather a Smith and anti-Smith."

"It is also claimed by the Republican party," he said, "that Hoover is one of the greatest of the greatest engineers of today; but he is not, and he is not qualified on this point, alone, to execute the office as President of the United States."

Mr. Huntington also stated that Hoover changed his politics in the past few years.

"Eight years ago," Mr. Huntington further declared, "the Republican Party made a promissory note, payable to the farmers, in the form of farm relief, and to be paid by installments of legislation; and not one dollar has been paid."

IGNORE DAVIS REGIME
The next speaker was George S. Myers, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor of Cleveland, Ohio. Mr. Myers in his address stated that "the Republican campaign speakers and Myers Y. Cooper, have not, during the entire campaign, said a single, solitary thing about the last Republican administration of Ohio, for the reason that there was nothing in the last administration under Harry L. Davis of which anyone could be proud."

"But, bad as the administration, under Myers Y. Cooper, for the reason that Harry L. Davis was, it would not be as bad as the administration under Myers Y. Cooper, for the reason that Harry Y. Davis was lieutenant of one political boss, Maurice Maschke, Cleveland, while the candidacy of Myers Y. Cooper in this campaign is being fostered and championed by two political bosses, Fred Schneller of Cincinnati and Maurice Maschke of Cleveland," Mr. Myers said.

ASSAULTS CORRUPTION
The regime of Maurice Maschke Republican machine," he declared, "has been so notoriously corrupt during the last few years and engaged in such flagrant election frauds that the attorney general of Ohio at the invitation of the Cleveland Bar Association and by the direction of Gov. Vic Donahey is now in Cleveland conducting an investigation of election frauds and corrupt practices. These two twin bosses of Cincinnati and Cleveland are attempting to foist their political machine and henchmen upon the State of Ohio in the election of Myers Y. Cooper."

"The Republican candidate," he said, "is compelled to borrow the record of some one else, for the reason that he has had no governmental experience of his own. The governor of Ohio, almost daily, has some local official, like mayors and township trustees, from every section of the state coming to his office for the purpose of solving some local problem, regarding roads, ditches or some other local matter. In this respect, Martin L. Davey has had experience in all kinds of local problems. He was mayor of Kent three times, has had experience in larger governmental problems, touching both state and national affairs as a member of Congress for four terms."

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 26.—The Nobel prize in medicine for 1928 was awarded to Professor Charles Nicolle, of Tunis, for his work in combating typhus.

Navy's Safest Flyer

Lieutenant James E. Dyer (above) is the new holder of the Herbert Schiff memorial trophy awarded annually to the Navy flyer having the greatest number of flying hours without accident. His time was 1,215.15 hours, a record for the service.

SALTCREEK IS CELEBRATING

Conducted at Township
School Building.

With a clear sky and a cool day, all Saltcreek-twp. residents, except those bedfast, attended the big festival and all day homecoming at the Saltcreek-twp school building Friday. This festival is "Saltcreek-twp Day" and a miscellaneous program will be presented by the school children in the evening.

Large displays of farm products including chickens, corn, pumpkins, oats, buckwheat, fruit and canned goods were lined up to receive their ribbons.

The day is general homecoming and get-together for the farmers to trade new ideas, plan new rations, and give ideas which they think will help the other fellow. Their wives are talking over some new kink in canning or telling how a recipe works out.

Five side shows were in waiting for the crowds and numerous lunch stands were set up on the grounds for this big day.

Merchants have autos, radios, tractors, farm implements, electrical devices and other home conveniences on display. Some of the amusements include living young green goose, a mystery house, a Sambo, and live ducks and geese to take home if their necks can be ringed.

The greatest displays of all are those of the school children. This was their show and their displays of school work and activities form the center of attraction.

An unusual feature of the festival is the fact there is no admission to the grounds and the program in the evening is open to the public.

LARGE CROWD AT WALNUT PROGRAM

A large number of persons attended the Walnut-twp Farm bureau and club achievement meeting held at the Walnut-twp centralized school Thursday night. The program was held early in order that the members might attend a Halloween festival conducted by Miss Ewing and C. F. Tossy, teachers at the school.

The program consisted of musical selections by an orchestra under the direction of Mrs. Martin Crumley; demonstrations on making neck facings by Geraldine Duddleson and Thelma Baker, and a playlet by the Magic Sewing club entitled "Who Made the Garment?"

AMONG THE ILL

Mrs. Don Riffe of E. Franklin was taken to White Cross hospital, Columbus, Thursday morning for diagnosis and treatment.

There is not much change in the condition of Mrs. Leland Pontius, who is desperately ill at Grant hospital, Columbus, following an operation for peritonitis.

SMITH IS TO END CAMPAIGN IN WHIRLWIND

Ahead—Herrick Comes
To Hoover Aid.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Wary but happy after his unexpectedly riotous tour of New England, Gov. Alfred E. Smith settled down for a short rest here today preparing for a swing Saturday into the second maneuver of his "battle of the Atlantic seaboard."

The Democratic presidential nominee will leave here around noon tomorrow for Philadelphia, a staunch Republican stronghold, where he will parade and deliver a night speech, going into Baltimore Monday for a parade and another night speech.

FIVE SPEECHES AHEAD
Smith probably will remain all night Monday at Baltimore because he dislikes to sleep on trains and will return to New York Tuesday to concentrate his efforts the final week before election in the metropolitan area. He will speak at Newark probably Wednesday night, Brooklyn Friday and Madison Square garden Saturday, winding up his campaign with a big rally there.

It is a hectic closing schedule, including its five speeches within eight days and more of the hectic parades such as he met on his New England tour. He denied himself to all callers at his hotel home this morning, working leisurely on his Philadelphia address which his friends say will be another shot at the "state socialism" charges hurled at his campaign by the Republicans.

HERRICK TO CAMPAIGN
WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Herbert Hoover's camp has been stirred by Governor Alfred E. Smith's Boston attack and it appeared today the campaign will see an exchange of heavy artillery in its closing days. At this end, however, it is expected to come from Hoover's lieutenants.

Myron T. Herrick, ambassador to France, once active in Ohio politics, was chosen as the champion of the Hoover camp to take up the "socialism" controversy begun when Hoover in his Madison Square garden speech branded Smith's farm relief, water power and prohibition proposals as "state socialism." Smith, in his Boston speech, ridiculed this charge. Hoover, himself, made no comment.

A statement by Herrick was given out at Hoover headquarters last night, after a series of conferences between him and Hoover and the latter's aides lasting a large part of the day, in which Herrick described government ownership and operation in Europe as "a dismal failure" and confessed "considerable alarm" at seeing any tendency of the kind in this country.

RECOVERING FROM FALL DOWN STAIRS

Miss Agnes Newmyer, daughter of Mrs. A. D. Newmyer of N. Court-st, and a student at the University of Wisconsin at Madison, fractured and tore the ligaments in her left arm in a fall a week ago down a flight of stairs at the school. She also dislocated her shoulder at the same time.

She is being attended by doctors at the school and will continue her studies.

MARION MERCHANT IS HEART VICTIM

Edward K. Uhler, 66, secretary of the Uhler-Phillips Co., one of the leading department stores in Marion, O., is dead at his home there after an eight months' illness from heart disease, according to word received here. Mr. Uhler was a nephew of the late A. J. and Mary Williams, of Circleville, who died recently.

Mr. Uhler was prominent for years in civic projects and in the Masonic lodge in Marion.

31 DIE IN WRECK

PARIS, Oct. 26.—Thirty-one persons were killed in Roumania today when a Simplon Orient express, bound from Bucharest to Belgrade and Paris, ran through an open switch at full speed and telescoped a passenger train on another track. Thirty injured were taken to hospitals.

Plays With Rifle, Shoots Baby

Four-year-old Freddy Burger didn't think his father's .22-calibre rifle was loaded when he pointed it at baby sister, Sara, and pulled the trigger. The missile entered child's abdomen and she died later in hospital. The small victim is shown above in arms of her mother, Mrs. F. H. Burger, of Atlanta, Ga., a short time before the accident.

AGED WOMAN DIES AT HOME

Mrs. Kathryn Heffner Hall,
81, Succumbs Thursday
After Brief Illness.

Mrs. Kathryn Heffner Hall, 81, widow of James Hall, died at her residence at Court and High-sts at 5 p. m., Thursday after a five days' illness from a complication of diseases.

Mrs. Hall was the daughter of Henry and Elizabeth Reigle Heffner, pioneer residents of Circleville, where she was born Jan. 13, 1847. She married James Hall on Aug. 1, 1867, who died about seven years ago. She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Lyman Hammel, and a brother, William Heffner, both of Circleville.

Funeral services for Mrs. Hall will be held at the late home at 2 p. m. Saturday with Rev. Sifferd of the Chillicothe Lutheran church, of which she was a member, officiating. Interment will be in Forest cemetery by Mader and Ebert. Relatives request that flowers be omitted.

Pallbearers for Mrs. Hall will be her nephews, H. M. Crites, Daniel Brobst, Oscar Heffner, Charles C. Heffner, Val Brobst and George Hook.

KILLS WIFE, SELF AS BABES WATCH

COLUMBUS, Oct. 26.—Domestic troubles were assigned today as the motive for the killing of Mrs. Helen Postle, 20, by her husband, John, 22, who then killed himself.

The shooting occurred late yesterday at the home of Mrs. Postle's parents where the couple and their two babies had been living.

Mrs. Postle's mother, Mrs. William P. Oliver, said the two had been quarreling frequently but she did not know the cause.

The double tragedy was witnessed by the two children, John, 4, and Jerry, 2.

ESCAPES INJURY

CINCINNATI, Oct. 26.—Judge Florence E. Allen of the state supreme court, escaped uninjured today when a truck crashed into the rear of an automobile of which she was an occupant. The car was overturned.

MAYOR IS INVITED

Mayor B. T. Hedges received an invitation Thursday to attend the Ohio Progress Exposition on Oct. 29, Columbus. This day will be known as "Ohio Mayor's Day" and Mayor James J. Thomas, of Columbus, has been chosen chairman of the day.

UNFAVORABLE WEATHER IS SAID REASON

Dr. Eckener Rushes Preparations
To Start On Monday
For Germany.

LAKEHURST, N. J., Oct. 26.—Plans for the western trip of the giant Graf Zeppelin were unexpectedly cancelled today by Dr. Hugo Eckener who said bad weather conditions necessitated the cancellation.

Dr. Eckener's announcement was a surprise to many although he had indicated before that the western excursion would be cancelled should today's weather conditions be unfavorable.

Earlier today veering winds blowing across the landing field had made it doubtful that the air liner would attempt the flight. At that time the wind was blowing at from 18 to 20 miles an hour.

Although weather conditions further westward were declared to be unfavorable to the trip, Eckener said the direct reason for the cancellation was the local conditions.

Dr. Eckener waited until the last possible moment before definitely declaring the western tour would be cancelled. Officers and crew of the air liner had waited all morning for a word from the designer of the craft. The crew had been held in readiness and even the doors to the huge hangar had been opened as if in anticipation of its western tour.

Immediately after the announcement, Dr. Eckener instructed the crew to start refuelling the craft for its return to Germany.

START RETURN MONDAY
Eckener said that if the weather was favorable a start for Europe would be made Monday. He added that this depended, of course, on the dirigible being ready for the long overseas trip.

Although cancellation of the tour of the United States provided a disappointment for the guests who were to have accompanied the liner, it meant hurried preparations for another trip more hazardous for the members of the crew and officers who were on the dirigible on its flight from Germany.

Preparations were immediately made for the gasoline in the Zeppelin's fuel tanks to be replaced by an American-made gasoline fuel.

COURT DISMISSES AUTO CRASH CASE

Habeas Corpus Proceeding Friday.

The case of Arthur Strawser, constable of Circleville-twp against Clifton Reichelderfer for alleged reckless operation of a motor vehicle was dismissed in common pleas court Friday by Judge Clarence Curtin on the grounds that the justice had no jurisdiction to hear a case of this kind.

Tuesday, Reichelderfer figured in an auto collision with Strawser and the latter swore out a warrant charging Reichelderfer with the reckless operation of a motor vehicle. He brought Reichelderfer before his father, George Strawser, for a hearing. Reichelderfer was fined $5 and costs and committed to the county jail until the fine and costs were paid.

Charles H. May, his attorney, then filed habeas corpus proceedings for Reichelderfer before Judge Curtin and he was released from the county jail.

LINDY GETS DEER

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 26.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh killed a deer three hours after his arrival at the Lababia hacienda, according to a telegram received by friends here. Lindbergh has received permission from the department of agriculture to kill two cinnamon bears and two spotted male deer. Ordinarily the shooting of those animals is prohibited.

GETS DEATH WORD

Mrs. Ida Rife, of S. Court-st, received word Friday morning of the death of her brother-in-law, Eugene Delaney Halstead, at Hollywood, Cal. Mr. Halstead was the husband of Mrs. Rife's sister, Rebekah Hulst Halstead. He was buried in California.

LEGIONAIRES HOME
Six American legion boys from Amanda who drove to San Antonio, Texas, to attend the national convention have arrived home after a 3,663 mile trip. They went to Texas by way of Indianapolis, St. Louis and Dallas returning through Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee and Kentucky.

HISTORY OF THIS COUNTY INTERESTING
Important Facts Are Included In Data Gathered By Charles V. Truax.

Pickaway-co. where the early settlers found so many earthworks of a prehistoric race, included the circular fort which furnished the name for Circleville, the county seat, was formed, according to the historical and agricultural data recently compiled by Charles V. Truax, state director of agriculture.

The report further says that three and a half miles south of Circleville are the Pickaway Plains where there were Indian villages. Seven miles south of Circleville is the famous elm tree under which tradition says the famous speech of the noted Mingo, Logan, considered a gem of oratory was delivered. In this county, Lord Dunmore completed a notable treaty with the Indians in 1774.

SQUARE FORT ALSO HERE
In addition to the circular fortification at Circleville when Daniel Dresbach laid out the town in 1810, there was a square fort. In the center of the circular fort, the old court house, destroyed in 1841, was erected. "All traces" of most of the ancient earthworks in this county have now disappeared.

Ohio's first historian, Caleb Atwater, lived at Circleville. He not only did a great work in the collection of facts about the early history of the state but he was prominent as an educator and legislator, minister and lawyer. He did much valuable work in behalf of canals for Ohio. He passed away at the age of 89 years.

The first court in Pickaway-co. was held April 6, 1810, at Jefferson, the temporary county seat. April 26, 1811, the first court in Circleville was held at the Zeiger house, a log building. The court room was in the second story of the building, and sessions were held there until the first Pickaway-co. court house was finished.

CANNING WORK GROWS
The corn canning industry in Pickaway-co. began in 1873 when a cannery was established, said to have been the first corn cannery west of the Alleghenies. The canning industry grew with the passing years, until corn from thousands of acres was canned.

The Scioto Trail through this county had its beginning in the construction of the Portsmouth and Columbus turnpike which was chartered the winter of 1828-9. A short distance south of South Bloomfield in this county are two magnificent elm trees in the center of the thoroughfare. Nearly a century ago when the highway was being built and it was proposed to cut down the twin elms, one of the settlers, Adam Miller, shouldered his gun and camped under the trees for several days to make sure the trees would not be sacrificed. In 1927 when it was proposed, on account of the traffic over the Scioto trail, to cut down the trees, an effective protest was made and the trees were again saved.

M. P. CHURCH WILL HAVE CONVENTION
The fall meeting of the Columbus District of the Methodist Protestant church will be held Thursday, Nov. 1, in Grace M. E. church, Maynard and Indianola-aves, Columbus, of which Rev. C. S. Heininger, D. D., is pastor. The district embraces 25 Methodist Protestant churches in Central Ohio. Rev. R. C. Tolbert of Mt. Vernon is district chairman.

Among the speakers at the meeting will be Rev. Frank Lawrence Brown, D. D., 195 E. Lane-ave, Columbus, president of the Ohio conference of the Methodist Protestant church. Rev. Mr. Tolbert, Rev. Mr. Heininger, Rev. Floyd H. Eckert, Mt. Vernon circuit; Rev. D. C. Coburn, Westerville; Rev. William Woodward, Logan circuit; Rev. F. W. Obee, Pleasantville circuit; Rev. J. W. Rice, Cardington; Rev. S. R. Martin, First M. P. church, Columbus; Rev. J. L. Buckley, Stockdale; Rev. J. L. Cartwright, New Marshfield; and others.

Among the subjects to be considered are fellowship, ministerial aid, church extension, and the type of church program that will interest young people. It is expected that several hundred persons will attend the meeting and laymen as well as clergymen will take part in the discussions.

ACHIEVEMENTS TO BE DEMONSTRATED
The Madison twp. and the farm bureau will hold a club achievement program at the Madison twp. centralized school Friday, Nov. 2, at 3 p. m.

The program will consist of two demonstrations, musical selections, readings and the history of the club. Mrs. Homer F. Peters

EXCESSES QUICKLY EXACT HEALTH TOLL

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

TEMPERANCE and labor are the two best physicians of man. So said a wise man. Indeed, they are words of wisdom. Perhaps you wonder why I say so much about avoiding disease. You may think a doctor should talk more about pills and powders. The truth is I am far more interested in preventing disease than I am in curing it.

But I beg of you not to misunderstand me. To my mind the conscientious doctor is one of God's mind. The medical profession on the whole is a group of unselfish men, striving earnestly to wipe out disease, to relieve pain and to add to the span of life.

Did you ever think about this, that the doctor is working every day to do away with illness, to destroy his means of income? He is preaching health, knowing all the time that as sickness grows less his income will grow smaller.

You may think I am "appraising myself highly" today. Let me remind you, however, that circumstances have taken me away from the active practice. In a sense, I am a looker-on at the doctors these days. In this more or less detached position, my comments on the medical profession cannot be considered personal or in self-praise. Every family, every individual should select a doctor. He should be "your doctor." There should be at least one doctor who is a welcome caller at your house, whether he comes because his professional services are required, or because he just "drops in" for a minute's chat or a cup of tea.

By the way, do you think to offer that tired man a cup of tea and a cheese sandwich? He would be happy to have one of your good cookies, or a piece of frosted cake. I know his taste.

But there are other physicians besides men and women doctors. And, let me say in passing, some of the ablest physicians in North America are women.

As Rousseau said, temperance and labor are the two best physicians of man. One who lives temperately and works enough to keep the muscles in prime condition rarely needs a doctor.

Temperate eating, temperate drinking, temperate working, temperate emotional expression, temperate conversation, temperance in all things will add years to every life. That is what the Apostle Paul had in mind when he said to the Corinthians, "And every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things."

Do you ever read Paul's Epistles? I never tire of his philosophy. Listen to these words of "Paul": "For a

LANCASTER PRAISES SCHEDULED CIRCUS
Splendid Attraction Will Be Presented "At C. A. C. Next Week."

The Lancaster Gazette in a reportorial review of the circus which is to play here next week under the auspices of the Circleville Athletic club stated that it was the "Best entertainment ever seen under a roof in this city." It also said that each and every act offered is of the highest calibre, that the troops of trained animals were absolutely the best that the writer had ever seen.

The idea that the majority of the people have is that anything in the way of an indoor entertainment consists of just a few acts surrounded by a number of games and gambling devices. The C. A. C. circus will have none of these.

When one walks into C. A. C. gym starting next Monday night they will think they are walking into a real circus tent. There will be a seating capacity for 2000 people. The center of the hall will be occupied by a regulation sawdust ring. Promptly at 8:30

Important Facts Are Included In Data Gathered By Charles V. Truax.

Pickaway-co. where the early settlers found so many earthworks of a prehistoric race, included the circular fort which furnished the name for Circleville, the county seat, was formed, according to the historical and agricultural data recently compiled by Charles V. Truax, state director of agriculture.

The report further says that three and a half miles south of Circleville are the Pickaway Plains where there were Indian villages. Seven miles south of Circleville is the famous elm tree under which tradition says the famous speech of the noted Mingo, Logan, considered a gem of oratory was delivered. In this county, Lord Dunmore completed a notable treaty with the Indians in 1774.

SQUARE FORT ALSO HERE
In addition to the circular fortification at Circleville when Daniel Dresbach laid out the town in 1810, there was a square fort. In the center of the circular fort, the old court house, destroyed in 1841, was erected. All traces of most of the ancient earthworks in this county have now disappeared.

Ohio's first historian, Caleb Atwater, lived at Circleville. He not only did a great work in the collection of facts about the early history of the state but he was prominent as an educator and legislator, minister and lawyer. He did much valuable work in behalf of canals for Ohio. He passed away at the age of 89 years.

The first court in Pickaway-co. was held April 6, 1810, at Jefferson, the temporary county seat. April 26, 1811, the first court in Circleville was held at the Zeiger house, a log building. The court room was in the second story of the building and sessions were held there until the first Pickaway-co. court house was finished.

CANNING WORK GROWS
The corn canning industry in Pickaway-co. began in 1873 when a cannery was established, said to have been the first corn cannery west of the Alleghenies. The canning industry grew with the passing years, until corn from thousands of acres was canned.

The Scioto Trail through this county had its beginning in the construction of the Portsmouth and Columbus turnpike which was chartered the winter of 1828-9. A short distance south of South Bloomfield in this county are two magnificent elm trees in the center of the thoroughfare. Nearly a century ago when the highway was being built and it was proposed to cut down the twin elms, one of the settlers, Adam Miller, shouldered his gun and camped under the trees for several days to make sure the trees would not be sacrificed. In 1927 when it was proposed, on account of the traffic over the Scioto trail, to cut down the trees, an effective protest was made and the trees were again saved.

M. P. CHURCH WILL HAVE CONVENTION

The fall meeting of the Columbus District of the Methodist Protestant church will be held Thursday, Nov. 1, in Grace M. E. church, Maynard and Indianola-aves, Columbus, of which Rev. C. S. Heininger, D. D., is pastor. The district embraces 25 Methodist Protestant churches in Central Ohio. Rev. R. C. Tolbert of Mt. Vernon is district chairman.

Among the speakers at the meeting will be Rev. Frank Lawrence Brown, D. D., 195 E. Lane-ave, Columbus, president of the Ohio conference of the Methodist Protestant church, Rev. Mr. Tolbert, Rev. Mr. Heninger, Rev. Floyd H. Eckert, Mt. Vernon circuit; Rev. D. C. Coburn, Westerville; Rev. William Woodward, Logan circuit; Rev. F. W. Obee, Pleasantville circuit; Rev. J. W. Rice, Cardington; Rev. S. R. Martin, First M. P. church, Columbus; Rev. J. L. Buckley, Stockdale; Rev. J. L. Cartwright, New Marshfield; and others.

Among the subjects to be considered are fellowship, ministerial aid, church extension, and the type of church program that will interest young people. It is expected that several hundred persons will attend the meeting and laymen as well as clergymen will take part in the discussions.

ACHIEVEMENTS TO BE DEMONSTRATED

The Madison twp. and the farm bureau will hold a club achievement program at the Madison twp. centralized school Friday, Nov. 2, at 8 p. m.

The program will consist of two demonstrations, musical selections, readings and the history of the club. Mrs. Homer F. Peters

EXCESSES QUICKLY EXACT HEALTH TOLL

United States Senator from New York. Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

"TEMPERANCE and labor are the two best physicians of man." So said a wise man. Indeed, they are words of wisdom. Perhaps you wonder why I say so much about avoiding disease. You may think a doctor should talk more about pills and powders. The truth is I am far more interested in preventing disease than I am in curing it.

But I beg of you not to misunderstand me. To my mind the conscientious doctor is one of God's nobility. The medical profession on the whole is a group of unselfish men, striving earnestly to wipe out disease, to relieve pain and to add to the span of life. You may think I am "praising myself highly" today. Let me remind you, however, that circumstances have taken me away from the active practice. In a sense, I am a looker on at the doctors these days. In this more or less detached position, my comments on the medical profession cannot be considered personal or in self-praise. Every family, every individual should select a doctor. He should be "your doctor," "my doctor." There should be at least one doctor who is a welcome caller at your house, whether he comes because his professional services are required, or because he just "drops in" for a minute's chat or a cup of tea.

By the way, do you think to offer that tired man a cup of tea and a cheese sandwich? He would be happy to have one of your good cookies, or a piece of frosted cake. I know his taste! But there are other physicians besides men and women doctors. And let me say in passing, some of the ablest physicians in North America are women! As Rousseau said, temperance and labor are the two best physicians of man. One who lives temperately and works enough to keep the muscles in prime condition rarely needs a doctor.

Temperate eating, temperate drinking, temperate working, temperate emotional expression, temperate conversations, temperance in all things will add years to every life. That is what the Apostle Paul had in mind when he said to the Corinthians, "And every man that strive for the mastery is temperate in all things." Do you ever read Paul's Epistles? I never tire of his philosophy. Listen to these words in Titus: "For a

Splendid Attraction Will Be Presented At C. A. C. Next Week.

The Lancaster Gazette in a reportorial review of "the circus which is to play here next week under the auspices of the Circleville Athletic club stated that it was the "Best entertainment ever seen under a roof in this city." It also said that each and every act offered is of the highest calibre, that the troops of trained animals were absolutely the best that the writer had ever seen.

The idea that the majority of the people have is that anything in the way of an indoor entertainment consists of just a few acts surrounded by a number of games and gambling devices. The C. A. C. circus will have none of these.

When one walks into C. A. C. gym starting next Monday night they will think they are walking into a real circus tent. There will be a seating capacity for 2000 people. The center of the hall will be occupied by a regulation sawdust ring. Promptly at 8:30

"Welcome!" That's what America has said to the Twin-Ignition Motor

FROM the very day of the introduction of the new Nash "400", keen public interest has surrounded the new Twin-Ignition motor—

People everywhere are telling other people that they've never driven a car with so much sparkle and enthusiasm in its action—

—Or one that is as smooth and quiet at every speed, clear up to the top—

—Or one that needs so little gasoline.

Twin ignition, with high compression in the valve-in-head motor means more power, more snap, more speed, using ordinary gasoline, and less of it. Before you buy your new car, come in. We'll give you the key to a Twin-Ignition-Motored "400". You take it out, and take a ride. That's all we ask!

*In the first three months following the "400" introduction "400" sales were nearly 75,000 cars, 14,000 more than the total of the best previous July, the best previous August and the best previous September in all Nash history.

Each Drop Like a Whole Vegetable!

FRESH vegetables would give us all a state of health, if only we would eat enough of them. Few of us do. But here is a little secret about assisting the peristaltic action so vitally important to our health: there is enough in one spoon of plain syrup pepsin to fill a market basket!

Several factors affecting sound health are often ignored in the average person's daily diet. But add a little syrup pepsin now and then, and watch what happens! Your appetite improves, so does your digestion, and elimination. Lots of folks who thought they were in perfect physical condition see a tremendous change after ten days with syrup pepsin.

When a scientific, vegetable corrective can put you in fine physical form so quickly, you keep the whole alimentary tract cleansed and sweet and free from need of powerful purger—it surely is worth trying!

An actual test can be made in ten days. In this short space of time your stomach, and liver and bowels can be in shape to handle anything that's eaten!

Children thrive on almost any diet when pure pepsin syrup is given just occasionally to help assimilation, and make elimination thorough and regular. Elderly people have a far easier time, too, where this ideal combination of laxative herbs and pure pepsin is appreciated. Dr. Caldwell discovered this innocent means of keeping bowels normally active in 1875. Now, you couldn't find a druggist without this famous prescription, all put up with directions enclosed.

Behind the Scenes in Hollywood

By DOROTHY HERZOG
HOLLYWOOD—The problem of the broken accent versus talking pictures has been a subject of timorous interest in the colony. Let him without the first accent cast the first stone, seems to be the attitude. And, to be sure, the day of dem, dese and dose isn't of the past. We of Hollywood are proud but—er—human.

A few eyes have cast curious glances in the direction of the Samuel Goldwyn headquarters where the beautiful Banky has floated leisurely to stardom. Vilma's accent today is as charming as 'twas a year ago.

Mr Goldwyn found pause because of this accent. He cogitated. From the vague dimness of their cogitation was born an idea. Hence, Vilma's next picture, "Child's Fifth Avenue" (temp title) is to be an all talky one.

According to the story, Vilma is a Hungarian en route to Uncle Sam's territory. She speaks Hungarian into the "mike" and Hungarian records on the film. In due time, and with pathos mingled with humor, the Banky dares Americanese which she softens with that much be-printed accent of hers. Ergo, the insistent demand that the flicker-tes talk through celluloid will be met and the problem of the accent solved simultaneously. Clever, I call it.

The Banky troupe heads East shortly to closeup and longshot headlights of Manhattan. Who the leading man will be is still undecided at this penning. There were stories adrift about that intimated Rod LaRocque would hero opposite his wife, but the kibosh seems to have been put on that. Rod, himself, expresses no enthusiasm concerning pictures of any nature. He has made some good investments on the stock exchange and, financially, is prepared to let his conscience be his guide. Still, many attempt to retire but few succeed.

The DeWillo Concert

Featuring DeWillo Semerau and His Concertina Grande

The DeWillo Concert Company is in a class by itself as one of the most unique companies in concert work. The concertina grande is an instrument that approaches the pipe organ in tone volume, and is the equal of a concert band in difference of tone qualities, and DeWillo is one of the world's recognized masters of this instrument. He has been engaged in all hues of professional concert work, and has alone taken the place of an entire concert company through a season of summer Chautauquas.

LA NAOMI COFFIN, the violinist, for ten years a pupil of the famed Trindelli, has in four years, Lyceum and Chautauqua, forged to the front rank of lyceum violinists. She is also an accomplished pianist.

MRS. DEWILLO SEMERAU, soprano and pianist, possesses a sweet voice of wide range. Her gracious personality blends well with her sympathetic interpretation, making her work a great success.

More than half of the program of the DeWillo Concert Company consists of ensemble music, and the variety is unusual and appealing. Mr. DeWillo also gives a group of imitations of birds and animals and familiar musical instruments; plays several descriptive selections, duets with violin and voice; and also plays the piano for some of the solo numbers of the other members of his company.

The uniting of these three artists in one company gives us the DeWillo Concert Company one of the most satisfactory attractions we have ever engaged.

THREE MURDERERS GET NEW TRIALS

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., Oct. 26.—Three Illinois murderers—one a woman—were granted new trials today by the Illinois supreme court.

The three persons, all convicted of murder and under sentence of death were:

Mrs. Catherine Cassler, Cook-co., Dr. Amante Rongetti, Chicago, and Mike Kurant, Madison-co.

Mrs. Cassler was under sentence to hang for the murder of William Lundstrom. Dr. Rongetti, Chicago physician, convicted of the murder of Loretta Enders. It was alleged that an illegal operation performed by the Chicago physician resulted in her death. Mike Kurant was convicted of the murder of Paul Budde, and was to die on the gallows.

FASHIONS

By FRANCES PAGET
Copyright, 1928, by Women's Wear Magazine

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Not since the years when a blouse and skirt was a recognized necessity in every woman's wardrobe, has there been such variety in blouses as this year, that is, from the Paris viewpoint. In length, they vary from tuck-in types to tunics which reveal only a few inches of the hem. In materials, washable silks and sweater fabrics are at one end of the gamut and printed velvets and lames at the other.

The tuck-in blouse was tentatively revived about two years ago, but it is now general enough to be said to have arrived. It is almost exclusively for sports or tailored wear, and it is the houses which have a reputation for sports or tailored clothes that have done most with it—among them Patou, Nowitzky, O'Rossen, J. Suzanne Talbot, and Schiaparelli. Some of these houses make them on chemise or skirtwaist lines. These are of flat crepe or washable silk. Other houses, among them Schiaparelli, make them of sweater materials. O'Rossen even extends the tuck-in idea to afternoon.

Renee is probably the dress-maker most faithful to blouses and always shows a number of them in her collections. She is a past master of the hi-length overblouse, but shows long tunics, as well, and in this is matched by other houses. Paquin, for instance, shows tunics for afternoon under long coats and over foundations which match the coat.

Lelong has several black and white afternoon ensembles in his favorite manner, black coat, blue foundations and white cassquin tunic. The most elaborate of these is done in the new stam ed velvet which suggests lam fur, and the white tunic has slight flare below the hips.

When all is said and done, however, the hi-length overblouse remains the dominant note.

LOANS UP TO $500

Among the happiest people in the world are those who go through life prepared to pay their own way without having to depend upon the rich relatives—if there are any. When they run short of money they borrow from The City Loan with no more bother than opening an ordinary charge account at the neighborhood grocery. And they use that money just as they wish—a sermon and a book of rules are never included in City Loan service.

The City Loan furnishes thousands of dollars for these people who demand all the safety, friendliness and personal attention of a relationship loan, yet who prefer it to be a confidential business affair for the sake of pride and independence.

FASHIONS

By FRANCES PAGET

Copyright, 1928, by Women's Wear Magazine

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Not since the years when a blouse and skirt was a recognized necessity in every woman's wardrobe, has there been such variety in blouses as this year, that is, from the Paris viewpoint. In length, they vary from tuck-in types to tunics which reveal only a few inches of the hem. In materials, washable silks and sweater fabrics are at one end of the gamut and printed velvets and janes at the other.

The tuck-in blouse was tentatively revived about two years ago, but it is now general enough to be said to have arrived. It is almost exclusively for sports or tailored wear, and it is the houses which have a reputation for sports or tailored clothes that have done most with it—among them Patou, Nowitzky, O'Rosen, J. Suzanne Talbot, and Schiaparelli. Some of these houses make them on chemise or skirtwaist lines. These are of flat crepe or washable silk. Other houses, among them Schiaparelli, make them of sweater materials. O'Rosen even extends the tuck-in idea to afternoon.

Renee is probably the dressmaker most faithful to blouses and always shows a number of them in her collections. She is a partisan of the hi-length overblouse, but shows long tunics, as well, in this is matched by other houses. Paquin, for instance, shows tunic or afternoon under long coats and over foundations which make the coat.

Lelong has several black and white afternoon ensembles in favorite manner, black coat, blouses and white casaquin tunic. The most elaborate of these is done in the new star velvet which suggests la fur, and the white tunic has slight flare below the hips.

When all is said and done, however, the hi-length overblouse remains the dominant note.

BIBLE THOUGHT

COMPETING ACTIVITIES

The organizer for a prominent society, recently reported that the competition of automobiles and radio has interfered with membership in fraternal orders. He said that many foreign lodge men will now take the family riding or stay at home listening to the radio, instead of attending lodge meetings.

There is something of permanent value in fraternal orders, which men will return to after the novelty wears off from forms of entertainment which are new to them. Fraternal society work is not the only thing that suffers. The churches and many forms of entertainment and community work also feel this competition. And yet some of the fraternal orders, perhaps many of them, have been able to increase their membership.

Modern people have so many interesting ways of spending time, that many activities that used to please them are set aside. But they should not overlook experiences that have proved very educational and helpful. In the past, prominent among which is membership in fraternal orders.

PAYING EDUCATION'S COST

Formerly colleges and such institutions were established as a public philanthropy, because they trained ministers, teachers, and various professional people, who instructed the community and led it toward higher ideals. But now the majority of students attend college to make more money or gain social prestige.

Hence some wealthy people who in former years would have given liberally to colleges, ask whether they can be expected under present conditions to make such generous gifts to these institutions, and whether those who take these courses should not pay for the education themselves. Without rich endowments to cover many expenses, education would cost about twice as much.

Yet advancing educational costs are hard on families which have culture, but have little money. We need many colleges run on very simple lines, where expenses will be moderate, but where the intellectual opportunities and inspiration will be fine.

THE PRICELESS BALLOT

It should be with a thrill that the young man or woman registers his or her name for the first time for voting. Young people may well have a sentiment of pride in taking on their share of the work of governing the country.

The ballot is a priceless possession. It has cost an infinite amount, not merely in the struggles of our ancestors, but in the efforts of men and women who for ages have fought against kings and tyrants to establish democracy.

The ballot does not necessarily give freedom of good government. All over the world are nations where people have the ballot, but they do not know how to use it, and their democratic government is a farce and a sham.

SCIENCE PAYS

Science gives us here in America an increased income of $20,000,000,000 a year, according to an authority writing in Chemical Markets. This writer says it has doubled the productivity of agriculture, and more than quadrupled that of mining. It has created the entire automobile industry in about 50 years.

When funds are asked to promote scientific research, many people may say they are wasted, and yet the scientists are constantly discovering things out of which the people reap profits amounting up to billions. The American people and their government should spend money generously for such investigations.

Sure Cure

We have every reason to believe that all victims of loss of speech would be permanently cured if it could be arranged for them to make a ride in one.

OPENS WITH MURDER

One of the surprises of "Chicago" as a stage play is the murder which occurs less than a minute after the curtain rises in the first act.

This same surprise is present in Lenore Coffee's screen version of the play, a De Mille Studio production for Pathe, although the murdered man survives a few minutes longer in the action picture than he did on the stage. This role is played by Eugene Pallette. "Chicago" is at Cliftona theater tonight.

The cast includes Phyllis Haver, Victor Varconi, Virginia Bradford, T. Roy Barnes, Robert Edeson, Julia Faye and May Robson.

STORY OF GIRL HOBO

Jean Herscholt in "Alias the Deacon" is on at the Grand theater tonight. The story is what happened to pretty little Nancy, who disguised as a hobo, was caught in a box car with her hair down. A handsome young man and a kind old gambler they called "Deacon" befriended her in a little town where the trio went to re-shuffle their lives.

Also the last chapter of "The Scarlet Arrow" will be shown.

If we choose the best, custom will make it the easiest.

WEST OHIO'S TRAP SHOOT ON OCT. 28

Sunday, Oct. 28, will make the opening of the first annual Western Ohio championship trapshooting tournament at the Camp Troy Gun club, which is scheduled to get under way at 9:30 in the morning.

The grounds, club house and traps have been put into tip-top shape and everything in readiness to accommodate a large crowd of trapshooters who will be present to compete for trophies and other prizes which have been offered by the club.

The opening event of the day's program will consist of 150 targets from 16 yards, the first five high guns to receive cash prizes, while the winner will be awarded a trophy donated by H. & F. Henne Troy jewelers, the second from the gun club.

The concluding event of the program will be 30 pairs of doubles with cash prizes on high guns and optionals, also two trophies, the first from the Schinke Jewelers and the second from the club.

Any shooter can shoot for targets only, which will qualify him for any of the trophies. Tom Thorpe, secretary of the club, has plenty of ammunition on the grounds, and all other accommodations for the shooters. The Camp Troy Gun club is located 3 1/2 miles south of Troy, seven miles north of the A. T. A. grounds at Vandalia, on the Dixie U. S. route 25.

CHANGE LOCATIONS

CITROEN ASKS HIS ENGINEERS TO VISIT U. S.

Believes That All Frenchmen Should Spend Some Time In America.

PARIS, Oct. 26.—No Frenchman's education is complete until he has spent some time in the United States, according to Andre Citroen, millionaire automobile manufacturer, sometimes referred to as the Henry Ford of France.

"What applies to the ordinary Frenchman," said Citroen, "applies tenfold to the engineers, particularly if they are engaged in undertakings which have even a casual relation with industry."

"Each year I send 15 of my engineers to America and they return different men. The expense is nothing considering the gain. They come back not only with a background but with a spirit and an energy, a cheerful confidence which overcomes all obstacles."

"Of course they learn the way things are done and this is valuable, enormously valuable. And American manufacturers have been so invariably courteous even to answering the most indiscreet questions that the engineers have come back with the kindest souvenirs. There is much to learn in a purely technical way for the United States today is the paragon of the industrial world and it doesn't rest upon its laurels; it moves on and every year there is something new to be learned.

The Americans have never hesitated to show our engineers the most secret of their processes judging rightly that the secret of American success is the spirit which animates it. Out of this spirit has grown the marvelous technical achievements.

"If I had my way all Frenchmen would spend part of their lives in America. If every Frenchman had something of the American's power of organization and capacity for intensity of effort, France would forge ahead in industry much more rapidly than she is doing now."

Citroen proposes establishment of government subvention co-operating with private enterprise, each to contribute funds, for the sole purpose of facilitating visits to America for the purpose of study.

Broadway Love

by Thomas Edgelow

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

WHEN Fenimore Wilde, famous Broadway actor dies, his young and pretty daughter, Janet, obtains a job with John Montague, theatrical impresario, while her brother, Frank, an idler, goes South. Janet makes friends with Leonard Quigg, a temperamental musician, who loves her, and a brilliant young surgeon, David Churchill, who is married. Her employer insults her and she accepts the position of secretary to Dr. Churchill. During this time she has added to her list of friends Leonard's artist-uncle, Chester Quigg, and his young daughter, Alice. One evening David Churchill admits he is in love with Janet and wants a divorce from his wife. Janet tells him she does not love him, and because of offensive comments about her made by his wife, she will not see him again. Janet goes to live at the Quigg studio; to help manage Chester Quigg's mother, a domineering creature with strange illusions. Frank Wilde arrives home at this time, broke and in debt. Leonard Quigg gives Frank $1,000, but makes him promise not to tell Janet. After Janet's first meal as a member of the Quigg household an ambulance drives up to the door. Mrs. Quigg, the noyed by Critic, Janet's dog, has sent for it. Janet placates the old lady, makes Chester finish an expensive portrait he has started and keeps the household running smoothly. Her interest in Leonard Quigg is gradually deepening.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXX.

HAVING decided some time before that he wanted to live alone, Leonard Quigg had rented a huge, barely furnished room on East Fourteenth Street up many flights of crazy wooden stairs. Apart from a cot, a table and a few chairs, the room was devoid of the furniture, always, excepting the huge concert-grand piano, over which Leonard dreamed most of the day. In his heart, he wanted to write serious music, and he rather despised the facility with which on occasions he could rattle off the jazz which brought him such comfortable returns.

One morning in April Leonard was practicing on the violin when Frank Wilk dropped in to see him. Ever since Leonard had lent Frank the money to straighten out his bridge debt, a curious friendship had existed between the two. They had little enough in common, but Frank felt a mild gratitude, and Leonard liked anyone so closely connected with Janet.

Frank was in a gloomy mood. "I'm bored stiff staying with these people in Flushing," he complained. "Terribly sweet, and all that, but I'm not happy if I'm not in the city. And I can't get a job. The thing I do better than any other is drive a car, and I believe I could sell cars, but they always ask the same question, 'Have I any experience?' Of course I haven't, and how are you to get experience if they won't let you start?"

Leonard sat down at the piano and began to play a triumphant march. "Got it?" he called out to Frank over his shoulder.

"A job for me?" "It never occurred to me before, but I know old Fontaine of the Fontaine-Six quite well. He's crazy about jazz, and I'm his favorite composer."

"Why shouldn't you be?" Frank insisted enthusiastically. "I'm crazy myself about that last thing you wrote. But do you think this fellow Fontaine would give me a job?"

"He's here from Detroit at the present minute," Leonard informed him. "Let's go and see him."

Frank seemed enthusiastic. This was a job that he felt he would and better?" his grandmother sharply rebuked him. "The point is, I will not stay in Emily Witherspoon's house! She has always been led by the nose by that husband of hers."

"Then I think you are quite right, not to go—very wise indeed," Janet interrupted on a sudden inspiration. "Why should you interfere with them? If someone with a great deal of wisdom such as you have, Mrs. Quigg, stayed with these people, she might reorganize their life and make Mrs. Witherspoon lead her husband by the nose, which would be quite an amusing thing to do, but far too tiring for you. I think you are quite right to refuse the invitation."

"Perfectly absurd for you to go, Grandmamma!" Leonard came in heavily, having caught Janet's intention.

"When I was your age," the old lady snapped at him, "I was taught to keep my mouth closed, until asked to open it. As regards your impertinent advice—a fig for it! I see what it is! Both you and Janet want to keep me in the hot city this summer! It may be disagreeable for me to straighten out the Witherspoon household, but Ruby Quigg never failed when duty called! I shall leave tomorrow, and one of you can send a telegram telling Emily to send a car for me."

"What on earth makes anyone ask her to stay for the summer?" Leonard remarked to Janet afterwards.

"Mrs. Witherspoon was here the other day," Janet explained. "She is one of those people who will do anything to help anyone else, and she is devoted to Chester."

Frank interrupted with the news of his job. "I'm going to dash off now," he said importantly. "Have to see that my first customer gets an immediate delivery."

"That was very nice of you, Leonard," Janet thanked him, when Frank had hurried off. "But why did you buy a car?"

He told her of the recent arrangement he had made with the firm of music publishers.

"I don't think you can afford it, all the same," Janet said cautiously. "But I shouldn't scold you because you achieved the impossible—found Frank a job in which he might possibly succeed. I don't know why you are so good to him."

"He only wants a chance," Leonard said quietly. "But how about driving with me on Sunday if I get the car? I want to talk to you."

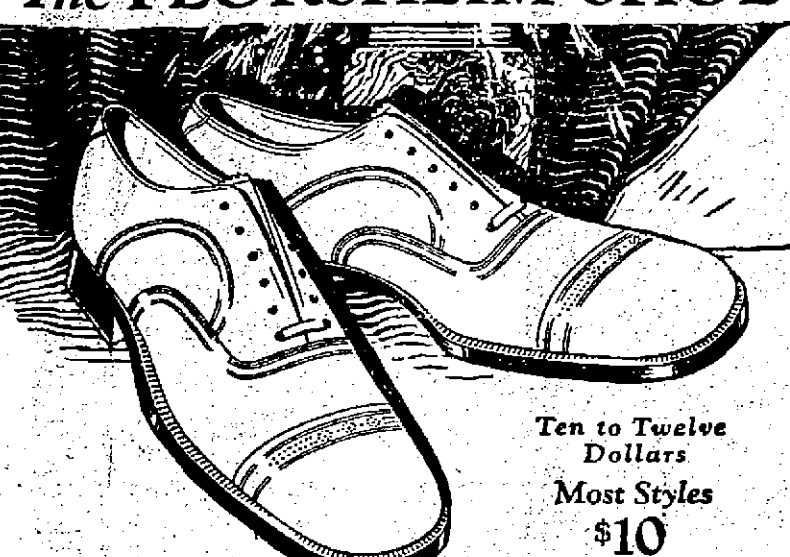

Janet hesitated. She was quite sure that she knew what Leonard wanted to talk about. Still, she was under a debt of gratitude. Frank's affairs had been giving her a great deal of secret worry, and at last he had a chance to make good, thanks to Leonard's efforts.

"I'd love to drive with you," she said after a pause. "But you know our agreement, Leonard."

"Oh, all you girls make me so tired!" he said in a voice that betokened his words. "You think I want to be sentimental, when I shall be thinking only of the new car!"

Five More Big League Pilots May Lose Job

FORMER TIGER BOSS MAY GO TO BEANTOWN

White Sox and Indians May Also Have New Manager During Next Season.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Several other major league managers besides Bucky Harris and George Moriarty are due for changes before the 1929 baseball season rolls around.

At least three National league and two American league managers are slated for dismissal during the off season.

Harris, fired by Washington, caught on at Detroit as Moriarty's successor and the former Tiger boss may be fortunate (or perhaps unfortunate is the better word) enough to find a job waiting for him at Boston as manager of the Braves if Rogers Hornsby is sold to the Chicago Cubs.

CERTAIN OF JOB
Moriarty, it appears almost certain, will be seen in the National league next season, if not as a manager, surely as an umpire, a job at which he was considerably more successful in the American league than as leader of the toothless Tigers. In his two year regime at Detroit, Moriarty piloted the Tigers to fourth place in 1927 and sixth place in 1928.

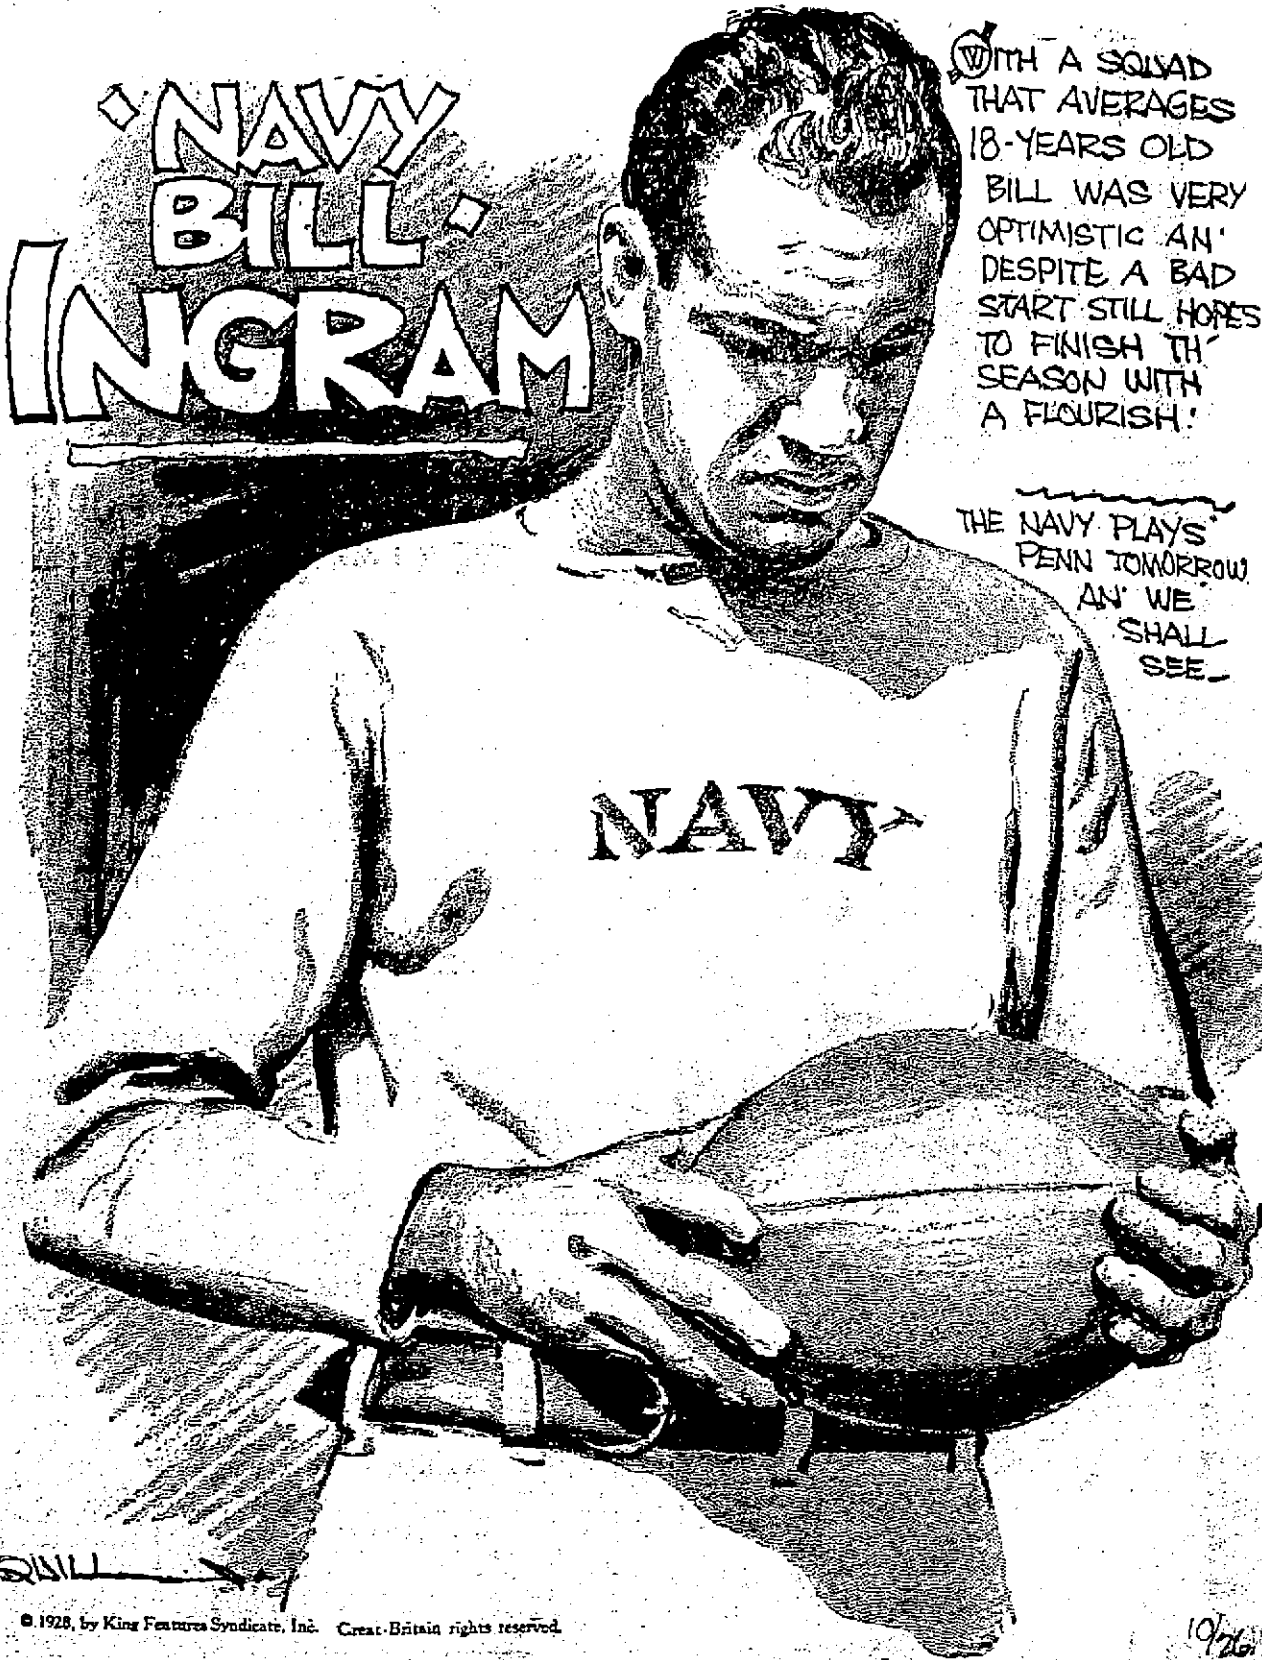

New managers may be seen at the helm of the Chicago White Sox and Cleveland Indians next season. Lena Blackburne, Ray Schalk's successor during the past season, may not be given another chance because of the White Sox failure to defeat the Cubs in the Chicago city series. Charles Comiskey was pleased with Blackburne's work during the time he was at the helm of the club late in the regular season, but it is said to have turned against Blackburne because of his handling of the White Sox in the city series.

INDIANS NEED HELP
Roger Peckinpah may or may not manage the Indians next season. If the club owners can find a suitable manager, Peckinpah probably will be relieved, although no one could be expected to do much better than Peckinpah did with the players he had at his disposal. The Indians need a new outfield and half a dozen pitchers. Willis Hudlin seems to be the Indians' only capable pitcher.

Even overlooking the New York Yankees' four straight games World series victory over the St. Louis Cardinals, Bill McKeechie probably is through as manager of the Cardinals principally because the Scot himself is tired of the many strenuous campaigns he has been through during the last four seasons with the Pirates as well as the Cards.

There is a lot to be said in McKeechie's defense over the show-

ARMY ELEVEN IS READY FOR YALE

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The Army's football squad, which meets on Saturday, the most formidable opposition on the most formidable schedule ever undertaken by any team, went over to Connecticut early today to be near the scene of its all-important gridiron battle with Yale.

Tomorrow, before day-break, the cadet corps of West Point will start for Yale bowl, and shortly thereafter the rest of the 80,000 fortunate ticket holders will move on New Haven, by road, rail and air. The Army and the Bulldog outrank all the elevens of the east, and Saturday's encounter has aroused interest heretofore unknown for an October football game.

SHOOT IS ARRANGED

The amateur trapshooters, who wish to burn powder and train their guns on sailing pigeons will have the opportunity Wednesday, Oct. 31, at the Circleville Gun club traps north of Circleville. All experts will be barred from the event. The shoot will be a merchandise shoot of 10 events of 10 birds each, with three prizes for each event.

PLAN REEF CLUB

A number of men gathered at the Armory Thursday night to organize a small bore rifle club. Enough were present to sign a charter and next Thursday night a meeting will be held for the election of officers and naming the club, according to George Leist, the originator. The club will use the armory for practice shooting.

UPSETS ARE EXPECTED IN NEXT GAMES

Hectic Conflicts Are Predicted For Saturday In Big Ten Competition.

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—The lack of upsets, which has marked the first half of the 1928 football season in the middle west, appears likely to be changed tomorrow. Every important team in this territory is scheduled against a formidable opponent, and the biggest surprise would be for all games to run true to form.

Iowa and Minnesota top the program with the only contest between undefeated Western conference elevens. The game is the annual Hawkeye homecoming and will be the 23rd clash of schools. The Gophers have a big edge in the all time play, having scored 16 victories.

Both Iowa and Minnesota enter championship hopes and the winner of this game stands an excellent chance of at least sharing the title.

GOPHERS HAVE EDGE
Minnesota is conceded a slight edge but the Hawkeyes are keyed for the contest, realizing that a victory will go far towards reestablishing Coach Ingwersen in the good graces of Iowa alumni. Ingwersen's feat in lifting the Hawks from the Big Ten cellar to the ranks of championship contenders has caused Iowa fans to forget the unsuccessful 1926 and 1927 campaigns.

Illinois, 1927 conference champion, is an overwhelming favorite.

to defeat Northwestern in the Illinois homecoming feature. Zupke appears to have an even stronger team than in 1927, but Coach Dick Hanley has developed a strong team and has been working on an aerial game which he believes will ruin Illinois' homecoming and put the Indians out of the championship race.

Ohio, the fourth undefeated Big Ten team, is Indiana's homecoming guest in a game which appears to be the day's best chance for an upset. Pat Page has the best Hoosier team in history and although defeated by Illinois last week Indiana is certain to cause plenty of trouble in the conference race.

Glenn Thistlethwaite's Wisconsin team is also in the undefeated class but a tie with Purdue has put it out of the championship running. Tomorrow the badgers meet Michigan at Ann Arbor in a game which seems likely to result in the first Wisconsin victory over Michigan since 1899.

RIPE TOBACCO LONG-FILLER CIGAR

For a Nickel!... Imagine!

Never since "nickel" first meant five cents has it meant mild, sweet tobacco fragrance such as it brings to you in Havana Ribbon cigars. No kidding. No loose talk. Because there isn't another nickel cigar in the world that's produced in large volume of such tobacco. No bitter-tasting under-ripe leaves; no insipid over-ripe leaves. Only fully-ripe middle leaves from choice tobacco plants, aged and cured to a mellow, mildness not excelled in any cigar for the price!

If you think this is a pipe-dream, prod yourself. Dig up a nickel. Light up a Havana Ribbon and you'll realize that there sure has been some progress in cigar-making and cigar values.

Don't confuse Havana Ribbon with five-centers made from "clippings" or short ends of tobacco leaves that crumble and come out in your mouth. Havana Ribbon is a long-filler cigar. For five cents! Also sold in Practical Pocket Packages of five cigars.

"with an OK that counts"

Never Before Have We Offered Such Values on Reconditioned Used Cars —Small Down Payment—Easy Terms!

Never before in our history have we delivered as many new Chevrolets as we have this year. Naturally a large part of this increased business involved the trade-in of the Chevrolet owner's previous car. This enables us to offer some exceptionally fine used cars that have been thoroughly inspected and reconditioned and carry the official red "O. K. That Counts" tag. This tag shows you exactly what has been done to put the car in mechanical condition for thousands of miles of satisfactory service. In buying these reconditioned cars from us you get definite assurance of quality and value—and this we can buy them at very low price that make them the greatest values we have ever offered. Make a small down payment and drive away the car of your choice—easy terms for the balance. See these cars today!

Five More Big League Pilots May Lose Jobs

White Sox and Indians May Also Have New Manager During Next Season.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Several other major league managers besides Bucky Harris and George Moriarty are due for changes before the 1929 baseball season rolls around.

At least three National league and two American league managers are slated for dismissal during the off season.

Harris, fired by Washington, caught on at Detroit as Moriarty's successor and the former Tiger boss may be fortunate (or perhaps unfortunate is the better word) enough to find a job waiting for him at Boston as manager of the Braves if Rogers Hornsby is sold to the Chicago Cubs.

Moriarty, it appears almost certain, will be seen in the National league next season, if not as a manager, surely as an umpire, a job at which he was considerably more successful in the American league than as leader of the toothless Tigers. In his two year regime at Detroit, Moriarty piloted the Tigers to fourth place in 1927 and sixth place in 1928.

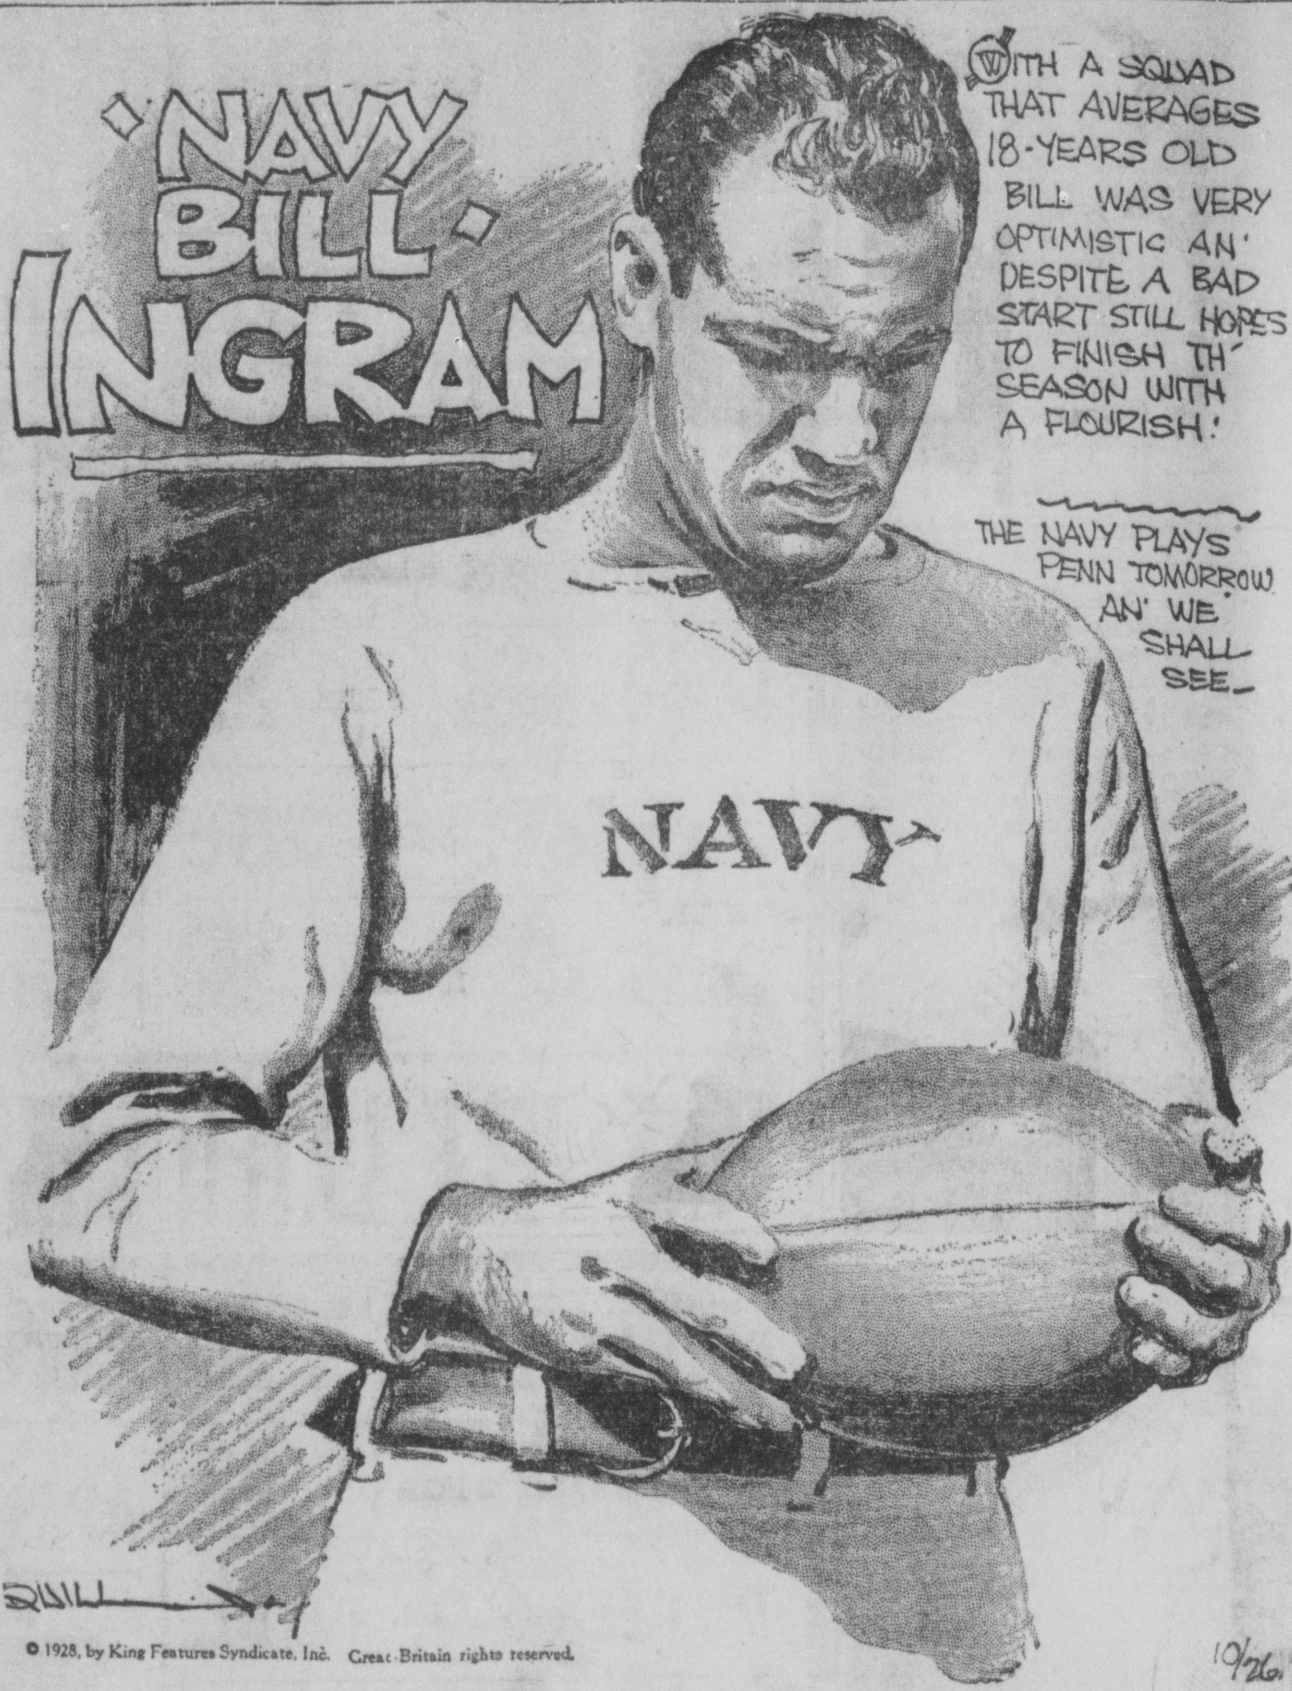

New managers may be seen at the helm of the Chicago White Sox and Cleveland Indians next season. Lena Blackburne, Ray Schalk's successor during the past season, may not be given another chance because of the White Sox failure to defeat the Cubs in the Chicago city series. Charles Comiskey was pleased with Blackburne's work during the time he was at the helm of the club late in the regular season, but it is said to have turned against Blackburne because of his handling of the White Sox in the city series.

INDIANS NEED HELP
Roger Peckinpach may or may not manage the Indians next season. If the club owners can find a suitable manager, Peckinpach probably will be relieved, although no one could be expected to do much better than Peckinpach did with the players he had at his disposal. The Indians need a new outfield and half a dozen pitchers. Willis Hudlin seems to be the Indian's only capable pitcher.

Even overlooking the New York Yankees' four straight games World series victory over the St. Louis Cardinals, Bill McKeechie probably is through as manager of the Cardinals principally because the Scot himself is tired of the many strenuous campaigns he has been through during the last four seasons with the Pirates as well as the Cards.

There is a lot to be said in McKeechie's defense over the show-

Hectic Conflicts Are Predicted For Saturday In Big Ten Competition.

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—The lack of upsets, which has marked the first half of the 1928 football season in the middle west, appears likely to be changed tomorrow. Every important team in this territory is scheduled against a formidable opponent, and the biggest surprise would be for all games to run true to form.

Iowa and Minnesota top the program with the only contest between undefeated Western conference eleven. The game is the annual Hawkeye homecoming and will be the 23rd clash of schools. The Gophers have a big edge in the all time play, having scored 16 victories.

Both Iowa and Minnesota entertain championship hopes and the winner of this game stands an excellent chance of at least sharing the title.

GOPHERS HAVE EDGE
Minnesota is conceded a slight edge but the Hawkeyes are keyed for the contest, realizing that a victory will go far towards reestablishing Coach Ingwersen in the good graces of Iowa alumni. Ingwersen's feat in lifting the Hawks from the Big Ten cellar to the ranks of championship contenders has caused Iowa fans to forget the unsuccessful 1926 and 1927 campaigns.

ing of the Cardinals in the World series, but not much to be said for the Cardinals themselves outside of little Billy Sherdel.

ROBINSON TO RETIRE
Frank Snyder, who led the Houston Texas league club to a pennant in that league and then to the Dixie championship over Birmingham, and Billy Southworth, manager of the Rochester Red Wings, have been mentioned for McKeechie's place. Both the Houston and Rochester clubs are owned by the Cardinals.

Uncle Wilbert Robinson, president and manager of the Brooklyn Robins, is ready to relinquish his post as manager of the team and continue as president and will recommend such a change to the Brooklyn squad at the next meeting.

Max Carey, captain of the Robins who sat on the bench most of last season, is Robbie's choice as his successor and will probably get the job.

ARMY ELEVEN IS READY FOR YALE

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The Army's football squad, which meets on Saturday the most formidable opposition on the most formidable schedule ever undertaken by any team, went over to Connecticut early today to be near the scene of its all-important gridiron battle with Yale.

Tomorrow, before day-break, the cadet corps of West Point will start for Yale bowl, and shortly thereafter the rest of the 80,000 fortunate ticket holders will move on New Haven, by road, rail and air. The Army and the Bulldog outrank all the elevens of the east, and Saturday's encounter has aroused interest heretofore unknown for an October football game.

SHOOT IS ARRANGED

The amateur trap shooters, who wish to burn powder, and train their guns on sailing pigeons will have the opportunity Wednesday, Oct. 31, at the Circleville Gun club traps north of Circleville. All experts will be barred from the event. The shoot will be a merchandise shoot of 10 events of 10 birds each, with three prizes for each event.

PLAN RIFLE CLUB

A number of men gathered at the Armory Thursday night to organize a small bore rifle club. Enough were present to sign a charter and next Thursday night a meeting will be held for the election of officers and naming the club, according to George Leist, the originator. The club will use the armory for practice shooting.

RECEPTION IS HELD

The home of Dr. and Mrs. S. C. Lightner and Dr. Russell E. Lightner was the scene on Tuesday afternoon of a delightful social affair when Mrs. Lightner was "at home" to a number of her lady friends. The spacious rooms were beautifully decorated. The living room in rose with Autumn flowers and bittersweet, while the color scheme in the dining room was yellow or gold. The center-piece, a beautiful basket of flowers and tall candles of this color in crystal holders, graced the dining room table. This color was also carried out in the delicious refreshments which were served. Those who assisted Mrs. Lightner in dispensing the hospitality of the afternoon were, Mrs. D. H. Dreisbach, Mrs. Carrie Holderman, Mrs. F. C. Leisner, Mrs. W. R. Sunderland, Mrs. F. B. Mowery, Mrs. Dwight Famuliner and Mrs. J. P. Gardner. The following ladies composed the guest list for the four periods from one to five o'clock: Mesdames Floyd Rittenour, W. K. Orr, J. P. Gardner, Harry Wright, Sue Foster, Ella Thomas, J. W. Shoemaker, John Warren, O. S. Buchwalter, David McCormick, Carrie Holderman, Jane Leist, Mary Lewis, Floyd Webb, D. H. Dreisbach, E. W. Waite, Ray Phillips, E. S. Boggs, Jesse Brundige, F. M. Snyder, George Brown, Homer Jones, Mary Umstead, Amos Leist, Arthur Hickie, George Borders, Fred Orr, Robert Brundige, Walter Parker, Robert Cryder, Carson Dresbach, F. C. Leisner, Wilbur Metcalf, L. J. Young, Margaret Wright, Edgar Hassenpflug, Egbert Freshour, F. P. Long, Dwight Famuliner, William McGinnis, F. B. Mowery, Emma May, W. R. Sunderland, Charles Foster, James Leist, E. W. Hatcher, and Paul McGinnis and the Misses Josephine Brundige, Ella Brundige, Carrie Umstead, Mildred Holderman, Laura Bush and Margaret Thomas and the following out-of-town ladies: Misses Letitia Brundige, of Baltimore, Md.; Mrs. Morris Bookwalter and Mrs. K. B. Hosler, of Hallsville; Mesdames Bernard Young, Paul Johnson, H. O. Pile, George Carne, Ella Hornbeck, Henry Mader, Mayme Groom, Will Avis and Miss Carrie Johnson, of Circleville.

About 70 members and guests of Kingston Chapter No. 411 O. E. S. enjoyed a delicious six o'clock dinner served before the regular meeting held last Friday evening in the Masonic hall. The hall was made attractive with baskets and bouquets of beautiful flowers and a pleasant social hour was enjoyed by all. After the opening of the Chapter the initiation took place at which time Prof. and Mrs. M. A. Shepard, Rev. and Mrs. Floyd S. Webb and Mrs. Hazel Hohenstein were initiated into the Order. The work was put on in a pleasing and impressive manner by the local officers. The following guests were present from other chapters: Dr. and Mrs. T. W. Trego, Chillicothe chapter; Miss Jessie Wood, Circleville chapter; Mrs. Bertha Krafthefer, Evergreen chapter, Adelphi; and Mrs. Frank Haynes, Anna O. Young chapter of Pikeville, Ky. The committee in charge of the dinner was as follows: Mesdames Marietta Rittenour, Maude Hatfield, Florence Mowery, Katherine Spencer, Zelma Spencer, Ruby Wood, Ida Anderson, Mae M. Groom and Florence Snyder.

The house, except a few evening newspapers, and no music. The only entertainment provided seemed to be in the card and billiard rooms.

Sheriff Davis told Manager Zimmer that while he could find no evidence of gambling, he intended to keep a deputy there every night until he was satisfied that the club was operated lawfully. This was the second trip Sheriff Davis has paid to the club. The first was six weeks ago and it also was made on a complaint from Columbus. Nothing illegal was found there at that time.

No complaint against the club, which is located within a half mile of Franklin-co. has been received from any Pickaway-co. resident. Sheriff Davis said Friday. He inquired among nearby residents and learned that they saw no reason for complaint, the sheriff reported.

Meaning of Fence

Fence soon will be nothing but a country word, for in the cities fences have almost been forgotten. It is a word, though, full of romance, being a shortening of defense—the first use of a fence being to keep out foes.

INTERESTING FACTS CONCERNING PLAYERS ON TIGERS' GRID TEAM

Football calls for great strength on the part of some of the players; for speed and action and agility from others, and for quickness of thought and loyalty to team-mates from all. No team can succeed that does not play as a unit. Each man must not only know the duties of his own position accurately, but he must know how to play it to the best advantage for the rest of the team, and must know when and how to assist each of the others. When the signals are given and any specific play is called for, every man on the team knows exactly what he is expected to do. The play is successful only when each man does as nearly as possible that which he is expected to do.

Thus are individuals made—by loyal support to team-mates. These are good teams made—by loyal support from all students.

These are the statistics on the Circleville high school grid players:

Did You Ever Stop To Think

By Edson R. Waite

Shawnee, Oklahoma

J. M. HARRIS, EDITOR OF THE TAMAQUA (PA.) EVENING COURIER, SAYS:

THAT the life of any community depends upon the attitude of the people that make up that community. To patronize installment, mail order and other establishments that do not contribute one nickel to the general up-building of a community is simply digging away the very foundation upon which the industrial structure rests.

Money spent at home comes home to roost, but money sent to distant points goes to make up the city in which that concern is located and makes your own community poor indeed.

We all live off one another, but if the chain is broken, especially in small communities, you can expect nothing more than that community will always be what it probably is now—a jumping off place and simply a commercial watering tank.

Advertising can help to overcome much of this community out-of-town buying distress, but unless the people become imbued with a patriotic feeling for their town, advertising or anything else will not help.

Community building rests upon its commercial advancement. A town of paved streets, boulevard lights and well kept public parks will elicit the admiration of the passing motorist, but if that town is to keep those things and add to them, it must have a firm commercial background upon which the advancement of any community must rest.

SPENDING YOUR MONEY AWAY FROM THE TOWN IN WHICH YOU EARN IT WILL NEVER DO IT.

KINGSTON

RECEPTION IS HELD

The home of Dr. and Mrs. S. C. Lightner and Dr. Russell E. Lightner was the scene on Tuesday afternoon of a delightful social affair when Mrs. Lightner was "at home" to a number of her lady friends. The spacious rooms were beautifully decorated. The living room in rose with Autumn flowers and bittersweet, while the color scheme in the dining room was yellow or gold. The center-piece, a beautiful basket of flowers and tall candles of this color in crystal holders, graced the dining room table. This color was also carried out in the delicious refreshments which were served. Those who assisted Mrs. Lightner in dispensing the hospitality of the afternoon were, Mrs. D. H. Dreisbach, Mrs. Carrie Holderman, Mrs. F. C. Leisure, Mrs. W. R. Sunderland, Mrs. F. B. Mowery, Mrs. Dwight Famuliner and Mrs. J. P. Gardner. The following ladies composed the guest list for the four periods from one to five o'clock: Mesdames Floyd Rittenour, W. K. Orr, J. P. Gardner, Harry Wright, Sue Foster, Ella Thomas, J. W. Shoemaker, John Warren, O. S. Buchwalter, David McCorkle, Carrie Holderman, Jane Leist, Mary Lewis, Floyd Webb, D. H. Dreisbach, E. W. Waite, Ray Phillips, H. S. Boggs, Jesse Brundige, F. M. Snyder, George Brown, Homer Jones, Mary Umstead, Amos Leist, Arthur Hickle, George Borders, Fred Orr, Robert Brundige, Walter Parker, Robert Cryder, Carson Dresbach, F. C. Leisure, Wilbur Metcalf, L. J. Young, Margaret Wright, Edgar Hasenpflu, Egbert Freshour, F. P. Long, Dwight Famuliner, William McGinnis, F. B. Mowery, Emma May, W. R. Sunderland, Charles Foster, James Leist, E. W. Hatcher and Paul McGinnis and the Misses Josephine Brundige, Ella Brundige, Carrie Umstead, Mildred Holderman, Laura Bush and Margaret Thomas and the following out-of-town ladies: Misses Letitia Brundige, of Baltimore, Md.; Mrs. Morris Bookwalter and Mrs. K. B. Hosler, of Hallsville; Mesdames Bernard Young, Paul Johnson, H. O. Pile, George Carne, Ella Hornbeck, Henry Mader, Mayme Groom, Will Avis and Miss Carrie Johnson, of Circleville.

About 70 members and guests of Kingston Chapter No. 411 O. E. S. enjoyed a delicious six o'clock dinner served before the regular meeting held last Friday evening in the Masonic hall. The hall was made attractive with baskets and bowls of beautiful flowers and a pleasant social hour was enjoyed by all. After the opening of the Chapter the initiation took place at which time Prof. and Mrs. M. A. Shepard, Rev. and Mrs. Floyd S. Webb and Mrs. Hazel Hohenstein were initiated into the Order. The work was put on in a pleasing and impressive manner by the local officers. The following guests were present from other chapters: Dr. and Mrs. T. W. Trego, Chillicothe chapter; Miss Jessie Wood, Circleville chapter; Mrs. Bertha Kratzefer, Evergreen chapter, Adelphi; and Mrs. Frank Haynes, Anna O. Young chapter of Pikeville, Ky. The committee in charge of the dinner was as follows: Mesdames Marjette Rittenour, Maude Hatfield, Florence Mowery, Katherine Spencer, Zelma Spencer, Ruby Wood, Ida Anderson, Mae M. Groom and Florence Snyder.

Sheriff Davis told Manager Zimmer that while he could find no evidence of gambling, he intended to keep a deputy there every night until he was satisfied that the club was operated lawfully. This was the second trip Sheriff Davis has paid to the club. The first was six weeks ago and it also was made on a complaint from Columbus. Nothing illegal was found there at that time.

No complaint against the club, which is located within a half mile of Franklin-co, has been received from any Pickaway-co resident, Sheriff Davis said Friday. He inquired among nearby residents and learned that they saw no reason for complaint, the sheriff reported.

CAMPAIGN LOG

OCTOBER 26, 1928 (By United Press)

Herbert Hoover in Washington prepared for his trip west, including a speech at St. Louis Nov. 2, four days before the election. Many statements were issued on his behalf by lieutenants.

Governor Alfred E. Smith, back in New York after the rousing demonstration he received in Boston and southern New England expressed his belief that Rhode Island, Massachusetts, and Connecticut would go Democratic for the first time since the Republican split in 1912.

Total receipts of the Democratic National Campaign fund were announced in Washington as $3,065,038.65 as of Oct. 22. Expenditures were $2,951,031 from July 23 to Oct. 22.

Senator Charles Curtis, Republican vice presidential nominee, speaking in Akron, O., credited the vast strides forward in the rubber industry and tire trade to the protective tariff.

Senator Joseph T. Robinson Democratic vice presidential nominee, speaking in Fargo, N. D., assailed Hoover's record as a food administrator, saying he exerted every effort to keep down the price of wheat during the war period and used his influence to defeat farm relief while a cabinet member.

Dwight F. Davis, secretary of war, assailed Smith's views on inland waterways development in an address in Omaha saying that "wise cracks made by Smith xx x could not conceal his xx x ignorance of inland waterways development."

John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic National committee declared in a radio address at New York that numerous business men were supporting Smith because they foresaw prosperity under his guidance.

Interesting Facts Concerning Players on Tigers' Grid Team

Football calls for great strength on the part of some of the players; for speed and action and agility from others, and for quickness of thought and loyalty to team-mates from all. No team can succeed that does not play as a unit. Each man must not only know the duties of his own position accurately, but he must know how to play it to the best advantage for the rest of the team, and must know when and how to assist each of the others. When the signals are given and any specific play is called for, every man on the team knows exactly what he is expected to do. The play is successful only when each man does as nearly as possible that which he is expected to do.

Thus are individuals made—by loyal support to team-mates. Thus are good teams made—by loyal support from all students.

Lace Remains On The Winter Dress Program

NEW YORK, Oct. 26—(UP)—Styles may come and styles may go but lace goes on forever.

The lace frock is one of the important evening fashions to reckon with this fall. It is folly to regard the lace frock as essentially a spring and summer consideration, and that because the lace frock was a success the past summer, it could not be depended upon to continue its career into a new season. But there is every evidence that the lace frock will be one of the leading evening fashions.

Emphasis is placed on colored lace frocks, generally the vigorous blues and reds. The neutrals, preferably rosy-beige and black, are good but brightly colored ones present the most glamorous style-appearance. As evidence of the intention to make them brilliant, they are generally of the rayon lace, identified by its shiny surface, and are posed over satin foundations, the luster of which contributes to the brilliant effect through the design.

There is quite a definite style associated with laces of this description—the circular and one-tiered skirt of minaret type, with scarf neckline of some sort. Both these features instantly suggest Chanel.

One of the most convincing features of the lace frock in this expression is its practicability, just as it has always been. It represents the current "handy" dress, one of which every woman has in her wardrobe, serving for so many occasions that require a frock not too elaborate and yet formal. It possesses the "comfortable" quality of the appropriate yet unobtrusive frock.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

ATTEND THEATER IN COLUMBUS
Mr. and Mrs. Homer Gleadell and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Betz motored to Columbus Thursday night and saw the Greenwich Village Follies at the Hartman theater.

INFORMAL BRIDGE ON THURSDAY
Mrs. H. P. McChord, Miss Martha List and Miss Helen Pickens, carried off the honors Thursday night at an informal bridge, at the home of Mrs. Lee Dimond on Pinkney-st. Two tables of guests were entertained at this time.

PARTY IS SECOND OF A SERIES
The afternoon bridge party at which Mrs. Charles Smith was hostess Tuesday at 2 o'clock was the second of a series of functions that she has had this fall. A third party will be given at a later date. The Tuesday guests played progressive bridge at four tables, with Mrs. Frederick L. Brunner winning the first prize.
The house decorations were large yellow and white chrysanthemums. Mrs. Smith was assisted by Mrs. James Moffitt and Miss Mary Heffner. Mrs. Maude Hedges of Ashville, was an out-of-town guest.

DINNER PARTY FOR JUNIOR CROWD
Serah Virginia May, a member of Circleville's junior society, will entertain Saturday night with a 6 o'clock dinner bridge at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira May on S. Pickaway-st. Miss May is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy May of Wayne-twp.

HALLOWE'EN DECORATIONS AT EUCHE CLUB
Mrs. W. E. Wallace delightfully entertained the 12 members of her euche club Thursday night at her W. Main-st. home which was lighted from lamps covered with orange and black shades. Silhouetted against the lights were weird cats, owls, bats and witches. The tallies, too, were black and yellow and of Hallowe'en design. Beautiful flowers and bittersweet also had a part in the decorative scheme.

When Mrs. Wallace served delicious refreshments to her guests she was assisted by her daughter, Marvina Wallace. The prize winners at the club were Mrs. J. C. Rader and Mrs. John Carle. This club meets every two weeks.

MISS SEYFERT ENTERTAINS WITH DINNER-BRIDGE
Tongue twister black Hallowe'en cats with black and yellow bridge tallies attached, and yellow candles tied with black tulle in crystal holders were the table decorations Thursday night at the dinner-bridge to which Miss Hulda Seyfert was hostess. Her home was also decorated with vases of baby chrysanthemums in pastel lavender, yellow and pink.
The guests were served a three course dinner at the small tables, after which the five tables of bridge were assembled. Miss Allison Delaplaine and Mrs. Sidney Beechy were the winners of the two prizes. Mrs. Foster Weldon, of Evanston, Ill., was an out-of-town guest.

WILL ENTERTAIN FOR BRIDE-ELECT
Miss Miriam Ruggles of S. Court-st. has issued invitations to a bridge luncheon at the Maramor in Columbus, Friday, Nov. 2. The party will compliment Miss Marjory Brown of Chillicothe, whose marriage to Mr. Warren Kampf will be an event of Nov. 10.

W. C. T. U. TO MEET IN ASHVILLE
The Ashville W. C. T. U. will hold their regular meeting on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. E. F. Schlegel. A report of the county convention will be given at this time. All are welcome.

ELECT CLASS OFFICERS AT MUHLENBERG
The senior class of Muhlenberg-twp. school has elected the following class officers for 1928 and 1929: Christena Heeter, president; Bernice Hott, vice president; Emerson Beatty, secretary and Wendell Neff, treasurer.
The chapel program for Friday at the Muhlenberg school was in charge of the Junior and Senior classes.

FURNISH PROGRAM AT FARM MEETING

Miss Ruth Stout will entertain the members of her bridge club Friday night at her home on E. Union-st.

LADIES' AID MEETS AT U. B. CHURCH.
Thirty members of the Ladies' Aid society of the United Brethren church were present Thursday afternoon at the regular monthly meeting. Mrs. Margaret Smith, president of the society resided at the business meeting which preceded the social hour. Reports on the receipts from a chicken supper recently held by the Ladies' Aid, were made. The net receipts from the supper were $153.70.

Following the business meeting, the program of the social hour included two solos by Mrs. Iley Greeno, scripture reading by Mrs. Samuel Hawks and a poem by Mrs. Frank Hussey.

The chairman for this meeting was Mrs. Ed McClaren, who was ably assisted by Mrs. C. O. Kerns, Mrs. John Kerns, Mrs. L. E. Stevenson, Mrs. Fritz Zwisker and Mrs. Hazel Merz.

SPLENDID MEETING OF BIBLE CLASS

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Shining Light Bible class of the U. B. church was held at the Community house Thursday evening. The president, Mrs. Kate McFadden, opened the meeting with a song service and prayer and scripture reading by Miss Blanche Ryan. A short business session followed during which the usual business was taken care of. One new member was added to the roll, Mrs. Maude Peters, wife of Rev. B. C. Peters, the new pastor of the U. B. church. The program for the evening followed under the leadership of Mrs. Bessie

Storybook Romance

Teddy Gerard (above), American actress, picked up victim of auto accident outside the gateway of her home near London and nursed him back to health. He was Captain Archie Grant, of the Grenadier Guards, one of Britain's crack military units. Now they're engaged to be married.

Long, the program leader for October.

Eileen Brooks gave a pretty little recitation and Mrs. Clifford Kerns a reading, "A City Fellow's Dream of a Farm," Mrs. Fannie Greeno and Mrs. Ellen Hegele sang a duet, an old favorite "In the Garden;" Mrs. Mary Millions recited a touching little poem, "The Old Logan Elm."

A humorous reading, "Schlansheimer don't Conciliate," was given by Mrs. Fannie Greeno which was much enjoyed by all. The concluding number was a violin and piano duet by Ruth Long and Loren Peters "Minuet in G."

A happy half hour followed in charge of Mrs. Cora Coffland, who had two contests, a clothespin contest, and a love letter contest. The winners were Mrs. Ellen Hegle and Mrs. Myrtle Trimmer who received as prizes beautiful winter bouquets.

The October committee then served delicious refreshments.

Lace Remains On The Winter Dress Program

NEW YORK, Oct. 26—(UP)—Styles may come and styles may go but lace goes on forever.

The lace frock is one of the important evening fashions to reckon with this fall. It is folly to regard the lace frock as essentially a spring and summer consideration, and that because the lace frock was a success the past summer, it could not be depended upon to continue its career into a new season. But there is every evidence that the lace frock will be one of the leading evening fashions.

Emphasis is placed on colored lace frocks, generally the vigorous blues and reds. The neutrals, preferably rosy-beige and black, are good but brightly colored ones present the most glamorous style-appeal. As evidence of the intention to make them brilliant, they are generally of the rayon lace, identified by its shiny surface, and are posed over satin foundations, the luster of which contributes to the brilliant effect through the design.

There is quite a definite style associated with laces of this description—the circular and one-tiered skirt of minaret type, with scarf neckline of some sort. Both these features instantly suggest Chanel.

One of the most convincing features of the lace frock in this expression is its practicability, just as it has always been. It represents the current "handy" dress, one of which every woman has in her wardrobe, serving for so many occasions that require a frock not too elaborate and yet formal. It possesses the "comfortable" quality of the appropriate yet unobtrusive frock.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Howard Brown, of Carroll who has been visiting with Hattie Denman, E. Union-st. has returned home.
